MONKEY POD COFFEE TABLES SALAD BOWLS FROM HAWAII

The Monkey Pod Tree is native to the Hawaiian Islands. It is a large hardwood tree that resembles our American Elm. In the spring it is covered with a film of delicate tufts of blossoms that are later followed by leaves and seed pods that remain until the next spring.

Monkey Pod Bowls and tables are hand carved from the trunk of this tree.

They are hand rubbed to a mirror like finish to bring out the beautiful grain of the wood.

Native craftsman fashion these bowls by hand to give them character and individuality.

Warm or cold foods may be served in these bowls without injury to their finish.
