Indians In Play, Indians On Paper Hardly Same Team

No exceptional players but all-round strength and spirit could be pointed up as the facts behind the Indians' winning the second League title in two years of Little League baseball.

A brief perusal over the year's statistics find the Indians behind many teams at the bat and in the field, but one star pitcher, Dixon, and a team of great competitors out win each game is the combination that brought the Indians their second title.

The Red Sox took honors in the team averages at the plate with a healthy .318 mark. The Tigers followed the Sox closely with a .309 batting average and the Yankees were third on a .297 average. Highest team average at bat in the National league were the Pirates with .287.

A CLOSE RACE in the put-out department found the Giants out in front with 218, the Pirates with 312. Third place went to the Yankees with 311 and the fourth to the Red Sox with 309. Cappell of the Indians led both leagues with nine doubles. Boucher of the Pirates and Corsaut of the Cubs took the triple honors with three each and Harrie of the Braves smashed four home runs to lead in that department.

Leading hitters for the American Division were Squires, 500; Baldwin, 451; Willis, 418; Cappell, 400; and Pierce, 400. In the National circuit were Boucher, 526; Wood, 442; Harrie, 404; Barrett, 390; and Blak, 385.

Top pitchers were Harrie of the Braves with a 1.7 mark in the Nationals and Dixon of the Indians with a 6-1 record.

FINAL STANDINGS for the season gives the Red Sox the edge in the American division and the Pirates top spot in the National division. The season was played in two parts and the Indians grabbed the championship by defeating the other teams in the playoffs.

FALL FISHING NEGLECTED
 Fall fishing in Michigan is a woefully neglected sport! Just when the fish really begin to cooperate the fishermen lose interest. How come? Brook and brown trout are really the only fish that enjoy the protection of a closed season come September, but all the rest face little danger from better than a half million fishermen who may go afield but leave their tackle home.

By the middle of September, and often a couple of weeks earlier, black bass are aroused by lower water temperatures to a point where their appetites take them close to shore in search of crawfish and minnows. They're easy prey for a well-cast plug or popper at such times, but few anglers are round to tempt them. Pike get big appetites with the first frost, and certainly offer more scrap per second than at any other time of the year. But there's nobody around that wants to scrap.

And best of all, the wily steelhead trout journeys from the deep waters of the Great Lakes into such streams as the Manistee, Au Sable, Au Gres, Muskegon, and many upper peninsula streams where fishing is legal for this mighty warrior all through November. Do fishermen flock to do battle with this worthy foe? They do not, strangely enough.

Too Much Diversions
 Maybe there's just too much Michigan Outdoors. Brisk fall weather in our State apparently calls for gun and dog. Fishing's for hot weather. Our plentiful supply of upland game - partridge and bunnies up north, pheasant in the south - win more attention than fish, and rightfully so. But why not take along your tackle and enjoy fall fishing in Michigan. And don't neglect those steelheads.

Steelhead Streams
 Stop in at Oscoda and meet Johnny Mead. Hell show you where those big, battling rainbow trout congregate in the Au Sable, and you'll find Johnny fishing far into the deer season - and catching plenty, too.

Meet Teddy Kotowich at East Jordan, and fish those deep, clear Jordan river pools where Lake Michigan Steelhead wait for a wiggling flash of enticing cluster of night crawlers.

Stand in the shadow of the Tippecanoe Dam on the Manistee and watch the big "bows jump four feet high just below the spillway while you fish.

You'll come home a firm believer in fall fishing, and you'll find another thrill in Michigan Outdoors!
