"That Makes 14 New Ones on This Street!"

In one small area in a certain American town, fourteen new Cadillacs were delivered during the early weeks of the recent spring. One of the new owners gave a party for the other thirteen—presumably to discuss the virtues of their wonderful new cars.

We suspect it was a most congenial gathering—for Cadillac owners have many splendid things in common.

First of all—taking them by and large—they are exceptional people. For the most part, they are men and women who have held to high standards of achievement for many years. They have a common feeling for the finer things in life. And they have a sound sense of values.

But—despite what so many mistakenly believe—they are not necessarily blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

For a Cadillac is a practical car to own—and is a splendid selection for the family of moderate means.

The following established facts must surely prove this to be true:

—there are twenty-two models of other makes of American motor cars which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

—a Cadillac will travel many more miles on a gallon of gasoline than you could ever logically expect from a car of its size and stature!

—a Cadillac is so dependable and long-lived that it is just about as economical to service and maintain as any car you could buy!

—and, finally—according to authentic used car evaluations—a Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its cost at the time of resale than any other car built in America.

In view of all this, it is no cause for wonder that fourteen wise and practical people, residing in a single small neighborhood, should have taken delivery of new Cadillacs during the fleeting weeks of a northern spring.

The wonder is that more people don't buy Cadillacs. For when a car combines so much quality and beauty and comfort and prestige—with such outstanding over-all practicality—it is a very wise choice for a very great many people.

Maybe it's the car for you. If you think it is, you are most cordially invited to come in and see us today.
