SUNDAY
SERMON
TOPICS

SUNDAY, DEC. 13

Christian Science

We may look to God for help, no matter what distressing conditions may arise, as shown in the sermon Sunday morning. The text will be from Psalms 40:1, "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy loving-kindness and thy truth continually preserve me."

Unitarian Fellowship

"Today's Children and Yesterday's Heritage" is the topic selected by the Rev. Russell L. Lincoln for his 10 a.m. sermon. Church services will be at the Y.M.A. building on Ward Avenue with the church school meeting in the Apple Orchard nursery, Adams road.

First Presbyterian

Speaking on "Hunger for the Word" the Rev. W. Glen Harris Sunday morning will show that scriptural hunger takes various forms. Some assume an attitude of rebellion; others are indifferent. There are others who use the alibi of criticism while others openly and honestly seek for spiritual food. All these, and the attitude of focus toward all who hungered after Him will be brought out in the sermon which has for its text Luke 5:1, "And it came to pass that, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Gennesaret."

Unit. Center

Health and Joyous Living
Found in Bible Teachings

"Health, joy and purposeful living are the natural result of pure Christianity put into daily action," Mrs. Mary C. Holloway of Shreveport, La., spoke Thursday at the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

She called such knowledge "spiritual understanding" and said it brings healing when properly applied because it reveals divine laws of health.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectures, Mrs. Holloway is currently on a nationwide speaking tour.

SHE SAID spiritual understanding, based squarely on teachings found throughout the Bible, shows man's real nature to be the image and likeness of the perfect God—the flawless evidence of His infinite goodness.

"Every conceivable need of man already is fully supplied by God," she declared. "This can be proved in practical life, in the solution of every kind of problem through prayer."

"Knowledge of God is always the chief aim of the Christian Scientist. Improvements in human conditions that appear in the experience of those studying this religion are only the natural outcome of living in conscious accord with God's spiritual laws."

The Rev. William H. Moldon of St. John's church, Detroit, will serve as moderator, with the Scripture reading by the Rev. Kenneth Neigh, D.D., executive secretary of the Detroit Presbytery.

The Rev. Allan M. Frew will give the charge to the pastor with the Rev. Leslie A. Bechtel, D.D., pastor emeritus of the Kirk, giving the charge to the congregation.
