WEST BEVERLY — The Neil Marshalls, of Riverside drive, hopped into the upper deck of a stratoliner on Nov. 24, and flew to New York for a few day's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Moffatt at Great Neck, Long Island. Mrs. Moffatt, the former Nancy Marshall, has been busy this fall teaching second grade at Kingspoint, L. I. The Marshalls arrived in Great Neck one day in advance of their son-in-law, who was away on a business trip to—of all places—Detroit.

Relatives gathered from far and near at the Arthur Lane's Bedford road home last Thursday. Partaking of the Thanksgiving feast were Lane's parents, the J. A. Lanes and his sister, Clara, of 12 Mile road, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Lane, of Houston, Tex., with their children, Theran and Boyie, and the William H. Lanes, of Detroit, with Bill and Michael. Home from college for the occasion were Nancy Lane, a junior at Albion, and Arthur Lane, Jr., who is working toward his master's degree in journalism at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Beukema of Devonshire road headed in opposite directions for the Thanksgiving weekend. Mrs. Beukema, who got a one-day head start, visited her sister, Mrs. Arthur Pelander at Amberst, Ohio, while Beukema went deer hunting near Hale, Mich.

Observing the holiday at the home were Mrs. Dittrich's Chelsea road home were Mrs. Dittrich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Goodwin; her sister and brother-in-law, the John K. Quirk; Dittrich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Dittrich; his two brothers, Robert and Harold Dittrich, with the latter's wife and three children, Harold, Scott and Joan, and his two aunts, Mrs. Anna Rickerdon and Mrs. Mary Jane Mitchell.

Back from a business convention in Hollywood, Fla. are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pitts of Kinross road. They flew down and back, staying a week at the Hollywood Beach Hotel. Mrs. Pitts entertained 12 members of the Gamma Phi Beta bridge club at a dessert bridge party in her home on Nov. 21.

There will be no meeting of the West Beverly sewing club in December. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 12, in the home of Mrs. Henry Welch, of Devonshire road.

Big Scouts are in the offing for Boy Scouts of the Birmingham area. In the process of organization are seven new troops, two of which will be located at our Baldwin school, and Our Lady Queen of Martyrs church.

Among those taking part in the Herculean task of organizing the troops are two West Beverly men, Douglas Witters of Kinkshire road, and B. J. Mitchell, of Kinross road. Witters is community commissioner for Birmingham, Wing Lake, Franklin and Bloomfield. Mitchell, a neighborhood commissioner, is assisting Eric Jacobson, Scout Master of Troop B-7 at Pierce school, in the formation of the troop at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs. It is considered likely that the Baldwin troop may be switched to the new Beverly school when it is completed.

Church bazaars during this season always serve as a colorful reminder that Christmas is at hand. Mrs. Edward Hill and Mrs. Doris Ansell, of Kinkshire road, have invited 28 guests to luncheon and to the bazaar at the Lutheran church this afternoon. Out of town guests will be Miss Helen Hill of Philadelphia; Mrs. J. Meyers, Mrs. S. Bassler, Mrs. A. Marshaussen, Mrs. A. James and Mrs. G. Mueller, Flint; Mrs. Don Carmichael, Mrs. C. Harrington and Mrs. H. Busch, Pontiac and Mrs. S. Padden, Wyandotte.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 307 have been making excellent progress in nature study this fall, under the guidance of Birmingham Garden club members. Among their projects have been the study of tree identification and winter feeding of birds, and making dry flower arrangements and dish gardens.

Some of their work will be exhibited at the annual Garden Christmas show at the Community House. Included among Garden club members who have assisted the girls have been the club's president, Mrs. Frank Webb, and Mrs. Aina Knorr, of Bedford road. Recently, troop members also attended a Saturday afternoon movie at the Lakham building, sponsored by the Junior Audubon society. The troop's leader is Mrs. Donald Dittich.
