

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS BRIEFS

Harold J. Hall Heads Committee On Flood Relief

Harold J. Hall has been appointed chairman of the Netherlands Emergency Relief committee by Cornelius VanderMeulen of Holland, Mich., state director of the committee.

Hall, Bloomfield district manager of the Detroit Edison company, was notified of his selection by Richard Patterson, Birmingham mayor pro tem.

In accepting the assignment, Hall said bedding, clothing and food were already being left at "drop" sites, including Birmingham.

HALL SAID the flood damage was far greater than was first reported.

The "big need right now" is money. Thousands of dollars will be needed to help these people start to rebuild their homes.

Additional funds will be needed to purchase many items which have not been included in donations of materials.

Our office will officially start receiving these gifts on Saturday, but though many already have been received.

Mailing Campaign To Seek Members

Bill Roberts, chairman of the Birmingham YMCA Membership Committee, announced plans for a mail enrollment campaign to endeavor to introduce 400 families to the "Y" program. He stated that this new facilities at 40 East Linden and a proposed permanent building being projected for the future, an increased membership is needed to insure completion of present plans.

Letters will be mailed to all ex-members of 4 years ago and personal calls by team members will be made to insure success of the campaign.

It is the hope of the committee that total of 1400 members will be in the rolls of the Birmingham YMCA by the close of March.

Southfield Kiwanis To Continue Scrap Drive

Southfield's Kiwanis club is continuing its efforts to collect scrap metal, according to a recent decision of its board of directors.

It was announced that quantities of 1000 pounds or more would be delivered to the home of Paul Bowman, not later than Feb. 28.

Smaller amounts should be delivered to the home of Paul Bowman, not later than Feb. 28.

All of the hopes are individually designed by subjects and styled by some of the industry's leading artists. Decorations and color combinations were created by one with taste and experience in fine home decorations, resulting in a pleasing and harmonious home both inside and out.

THE HOUSE just completed has a tile bathroom, tile lavatory, two bedrooms and a library. There is a natural breeze, custom-built cupboards in both kitchen and the all purpose room, disappearing from floor to ceiling, dishwasher, built-in refrigerator, gas and water meter and water softener.

Holy Name Loses To St. Michaels

Holy Name cagers lost a close contest to St. Michaels of Pontiac last night after defeating the same team earlier in the season.

After waiting point throughout most of the game, St. Michaels pulled in the lead late in the final period to take the contest 29-26.

Holy Name's weakness on charity shots let them lose the game. High scorer for Holy Name was Terry O'Connor but sharp defensive work by guards Bob Kenning and Jim Birney highlighted the play.

Thursday, Feb. 19, Coach Joe Basford's boys face St. Hugo of the Hills on the local floor. St. Hugo's boys are in an earlier victory over Holy Name.

On Tuesday, Feb. 19, Holy Name will meet St. James of Ferndale at the Holy Name gym. Game time will be 4 p.m.
