mountain which is a bandage that you the around your arm to stop the blood. Next week Molly will teach them artificial respiration.

TROOP 325—FRANKLIN
 During January this troop did many things. Among these we had a "Red Cross" party. We elected new officers who are Carolyn Hamberston, president; Joan Trotteaud, secretary; Karen Altmanberger, treasurer; and Gale McIntosh, sergeant. At another meeting we talked about bond work. Nancy Stroud is a new member. We started a Juliette Low Fund poster showing Girl Scouts in other countries.

TROOP 351—ADAMS
 This sixth grade troop has been hard at work on badges and have earned their citizenship badge and their Housekeeping and Hostess badges. The celebration of this work was celebrated at a mothers tea held on February 8th. The girls planned and served tea and made the table decorations. Pat Ackerman and Regina Reese poured. The friends of the afternoon was the awarding of the badges to the girls by their leaders.

As their contribution to the Adams Frolic the scouts worked on handmade articles which were given to the hosts. The troop leaders are Pat Ackerman and Anne Waldell.

CHECKED CLOTHS will keynote the "Paris cafe" theme for the February 28 benefit dance to be held at the Franklin Community House by the Junior Group of the Birmingham AAUW. Planning the decor are (left to right) Mrs. Earle C. Anderson, Mrs. K. W. Hutcheson and Mrs. Donald J. McGee, junior group chairman. (Eccentric Staff Photo)

The Garden club met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Parker Rockwell. Programs for the coming year were planned. Mrs. E. S. Maund and Mrs. Nell Lunn were guests. Members present were Mrs. Kelly Sandstrom, Mrs. John Parkins, Mrs. Thomas Snyder, Mrs. Carl Riblin, Mrs. R. C. Banker, Mrs. Perry Graber and Mrs. Rockwell. Plans were made to attend the Detroit Flower show. The local club can supply seeds for non-members as well as members.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. William Losh, who came to Daintree road from St. Clair Shores. Their children are Leola, 5; Allison, 2 and Scott, 15. Losh is an architect with O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach.

Sorosis Alumnae Entertain Children

Members of the Birmingham chapter of Collegiate Sorosis alumnae sponsored a Valentine party at the Baptist Children's Home, Royal Oak, on Friday evening, February 23.

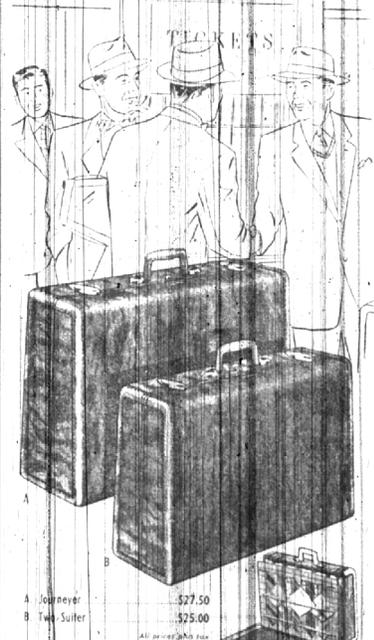

The tables were decorated with favors, cookies and candies, with an ornamented box, filled with valentines, serving as a centerpiece.

Mrs. Cassius Miller was the captain of party arrangements. Serving on her committee were Mrs. William Fairs, Mrs. Robert Reid and Mrs. James H. Bartlett.

THE CHAPTER held a combined visit and meeting at the Baptist children's Home Monday evening.
