News About GIRL SCOUTS

Mrs. John St. Clair, Mrs. Robert Reinhardt, Mrs. Lee Hanson were some of the volunteer trainers from Birmingham who conducted a Girl Scout Workshop on outdoor crafts and skills in the Berkeley High School on the evening of January 19th.

Mrs. Andrew Watson, a scout leader for many years, had a large display of outdoor crafts that could be made with inexpensive materials.

Other displays such as tin-can cooking, bird feeding, and plaster casts of animal footprints were set up and instructions given. About eighty Girl Scout leaders attended this two hour workshop and many ideas and instructions were exchanged.

TROOP 338—ADAMS SCHOOL.
 Patrol leaders for December were Mary Lester and Linda Jaake. Patrol leaders for January are Judy Rolph and Carol Houghton. Before Christmas the girls made sock dolls as gifts for the Family Service to distribute. The girls also made Christmas corsages for their mothers, under the guidance of Mrs. Lester.

Last week the girls completed work on their First Aid Badge. They have worked on this badge from time to time for three years so are very proud of this award.

TROOP 306—BARNUM SCHOOL.
 The following officers were recently elected: president, Sally Hanson; secretary, Myrna Moxley; treasurer, Olga Hefler. This week the troop is visiting the home of Mrs. Burlingame to learn how to make slips and to start plants. The group has already had one meeting with the Garden Club before Christmas and learned how to arrange Christmas greens.

They visited the Garden Club Christmas show at the Community House and studied the many Christmas arrangements. The Garden Club has been most kind in giving it of time.

February means a weekend camping trip up at Camp Narrin for this troop and they are making plans for this outing.
