

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

It is not the fault of youngsters that some of them live as a big load of cherries, to be had for the picking. If he furnished the bowl and the cherries, anyway? Perhaps it would have been better had adults left them on the trees, to be climbed for.

"WALLY BURKEMO won the tournament, but Felice Torza won the club," said a member of the Birmingham country club last week. "There wasn't a member there who wasn't rooting for Torza when he started the last round. That big grin of his was so friendly and gay that he made friends of nearly every person who saw him. We've nothing against Wally, but we certainly did want Torza to win."

A NEW ANGLE was revealed to this Wanderer last week. Over on the Brown street area a little boy was seen passing out candy bars to the gang—the reason? He had a new baby brother!

WHEN ROTARY CLUB Secretary Paul Grant last week put together his annual report of club activities, he discovered 16 members, including himself, had perfect attendance records during the previous 12 months. The others are Art Blackledge, Sam Bruni, Ray Cook, Rev. Glen Harris, Forth Russell, Edwin Kierulff, Clarence Kraft, Dair Killman, V.E. Peck, Charles Randall, Wallace Reid, Stan Reinhardt, John Rosso, Bill Torrence and Clarence Vist.

AFTER AN ABSENCE of just about 5½ years, Andy Merrill is back as a member of the Birmingham Rotary club, Superintendent of Clover Hill Cemetery on E. 14 Mile road. Merrill was a member of the local club from September 1945 to February 1948. Then he transferred to the Royal Oak club.

RECENTLY INSTALLED PRESIDENT of Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., Dr. Albert C. Jacobs, is a cousin of DeHull Travis, 1105 Forest street, Birmingham. Dr. Jacobs was born in Birmingham and attended local elementary and secondary schools. Travis said. Then Jacobs went on to the University of Michigan, was graduated Phi Beta Kappa, was named a Rhodes Scholar. He began teaching law at Columbia University in 1927. When President Eisenhower became University president in 1947, Jacobs was his principal assistant and in charge of the university while the president was absent.

MICHIGAN BELL this week begins installation of phones to 115 customers in the Mayfair area who have been waiting for service since February. Bham Bell company manager Walter Fauser said Mayfair central office equipment and trunk lines have been added to supply service for an eventual 500 more lines. We'll have the backlog eliminated by the end of the month," Fauser predicted.

MRS. ROBERT ALEXANDER MOFFATT

Large Picture Hats Worn By Bridesmaids to Altar

Large white picture hats were worn by the five attendants who preceded Nancy Alice Marshall to the altar of Christ Church Cranbrook early Saturday afternoon, July 11.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McGill Marshall of Riverside drive, exchanged vows with Robert Alexander Moffatt before the Rev. Perry Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mevin Moffatt of Galt, Ontario, are the parents of the groom.

Mrs. Neil M. Marshall III was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Evelyn Blum and Mary Cameron of Dearborn, Mrs. Paul Hope of Mystic, Conn., and the youngest sister.

THE BRIDAL GOWN was of white Swiss lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a fitted waist from which panels of lace fell into a sweep skirt worn over a hoop. A lace cap outlined with seed pearls held the fingertip illusion veil, and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of Fleur de-mour and ivy.

The bridal attendants wore in ballerina dresses of aqua silk shantung, with halter necklines and full flared skirts topped with tiny matching boleros. White shoes and gloves matched their picture hats and they carried yellow majesty daisies, with Mrs. Marshall's bouquet distinguished by African daisies in apricot-and coral tones.

Players Scout Kirk Readies Art Festival

Musical Show In Ann Arbor

"Scouting" with an eye to future programming, took members of the Village Players play-reading committee to Ann Arbor last Friday evening.

Attraction was "Knickerbocker Holiday," the satirical musical comedy with book by Maxwell Anderson and music by Kurt Weill, and produced by the University of Michigan's department of speech in cooperation with the school of music in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater.

MAKING THE trip were committee members, wives and husbands, and other interested Players. Included were William E. Kegel, Players' president, and Mrs. Kegel; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gilray, Jr.; Stanley R. Hood, Mrs. G. S. Gove, Mrs. George F. Green, Mrs. F. C. Moriarty, and Mrs. Wallace R. Ivers, chairman of the Players' music committee.

The Players were particularly interested in the University students' efforts since, like their own production, no professional help is
