Susan Joy Harley of Pleasant street will be a member of the freshman class at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., in the fall. Approximately six hundred freshmen will arrive on campus September 21 for a two-day orientation period before the beginning of classes.

David Perry Williams of Birmingham, a freshman in Agriculture at the University of Wyoming, has been named to the school's honor roll for the spring quarter.

Barbara Carol Faulkner of Yorkshire road was among the 113 University of Michigan students making an "all A" record during the spring semester. Barbara is a student in the college of literature, science and the arts.

Among those on the dean's list for the last two semesters at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia was Arlene Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Phelps of Fairfax road. Arlene was a June graduate of the Fredericksburg, Va., college.

William L. Power of East Maple road was among the graduates of Valparaiso Technical Institute, Valparaiso, Ind., on June 19. President of the student council and the second highest in his class scholastically, Power received his diploma from the department of advanced audio engineering. He specialized in the design and testing of ultrahigh frequency equipment.

Joining the music department staff at the University of Illinois for the summer session is Carol Rosenberger of South Bradley boulevard. Carol is a junior in the two-year Carnegie Institute of Technology music course which leads to two degrees; bachelor of music and bachelor of science in public school music.

Ballantyne-Booth Service Said on Friday Afternoon

Cynthia Carolyn Booth and Second Lieutenant Ronald William Ballantyne were married at four o'clock Friday afternoon, June 26, in St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook.

The Rev. Robert L. DeWitt officiated in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scripps Booth of Thornlea, Bloomfield Hills. Lt. Ballantyne is the son of Mr. Arthur E. Beane of New Canaan, Conn., and Ronald Ballantyne of Country Club drive, Bloomfield Hills.

PTA Council Maps School Safety Plan

Presidents of the eleven member units of the Birmingham PTA Council met Tuesday evening, June 30, at the Cedar drive home of Council president, Edson Stevens.

In addition to the discussion of other joint ideas, the group mapped a safety program for the schools. On hand was Richard E. Beiser, a representative of the National Safety Council and a Birmingham resident. Beiser has been appointed by Stevens to head the PTA School Safety committee during the coming year.

MRS. JAMES ADRIAN PARKER

The Booth's studio on Brady Lane from where Lieut. and Mrs. Ballantyne left for a motor trip to the Adirondacks.

UPON their return they will be in Bloomfield Hills for a few weeks before Lieut. Ballantyne reports for duty at Sioux City, Iowa.

Mrs. Ballantyne wore a navy and white checked gingham suit trimmed in navy velvet, and white accessories for traveling.

A matching lace cap hid a short tulle veil that hung in patches over the shoulders, and the bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Stephen Farr Booth was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Her white embroidered organza gown was accented with insertions of pale blue ribbon on the skirt. Matching ribbon edged her deep V neckline and the hem of her organza picture hat. She carried astrid daisies and marguerites.

FLOWER GIRL Martha Booth, younger sister of the bride, wore a French embroidered frock with a pale blue satin sash and a headband of white delphinium buds. She carried a small bouquet similar to that carried by the matron of honor.

The groom's best man, James Ballantyne, was the best man. Members of the immediate families gathered after the wedding at

Chantilly Lace Over Satin Is Worn by Saturday Bride

Borrowing the lines of an eighteenth century French gown was the bridal dress in white chantilly lace over gleaming satin worn by Betty Lou Morgan for her June 27 marriage.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan of Parry street, she stood at the altar of St. John's Episcopal Church, Royal Oak, with James Adrian Parker to say double-ring promises before the Rev. Charles Jatho at four o'clock Saturday afternoon. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker of Worcester, Mass.

The bridal gown was pointed at the waist, with the closely molded bodice and deeply rounded décolletage etched with a petal motif in lace. The long sleeves were tapered at the wrists, and her skirt flared in multiple pleats to a slight train.

A princess cap of blending lace embroidered pearls secured her tiered illusion veil and the bride carried white orchids on a prayer book belonging to her sister.

SHIRLEY ELLEN MORGAN was her sister's maid of honor. She and bridesmaids Mrs. William Curtis and Mrs. Donald Erickson provided a background of Elizabethan blue in their identical dresses of rustling tulle.

Their waltz-length skirts flared in sculptured folds and they wore shoulder-covering matching jackets. Their tulle coronets were in a matching shade and their bouquets were of pink carnations.

The bride's brother, Robert Morgan, was the best man. Leslie Arons and Donald Erickson completed the wedding party.

Mrs. Morgan's ankle-length costume was of shiny nylon appliqued with flowers, and she wore a corsage of blue delphiniums and pink carnations.

Mrs. Parker was in a dress rose beige chiffon with a lace collar. Pink carnations were her flowers.

AFTER A RECEPTION in the church parlors, the newlyweds left on a motor trip to Yellowstone Park. They will return July 20 to make their home in Oak Park.

For traveling the new Mrs. Parker chose a blue and white cord suit with a white lace cap and shoes. She carried a black felle bag with a gold crest, the gift of the groom.

AMONG THOSE arriving for the nuptials were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Conner of Harbor Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan of Chicago, Ill., and Priscilla Bush of Sturgis.
