

Wing Lake-Foxcroft News

By JILL ROBERTS
MAYfair 6-3022

The local gentry are gradually emerging, like the cicadas, from the avalanche of social pursuits which has buried them during the past winter and spring season. The month of June witnessed the culmination of a calendar crowded with teas, engagements, weddings, commencement dinners and parties, school festivals, art and horse shows, straw hat theater openings and golf tournaments. That unfamiliar hum you hear is not the last of the cicadas but the sound of books being packed away, the spluttering of a steaks on a barbecue grill, the whirr of a fishing reel, the dipping of oars in a quiet lake. Summer has arrived!

Well initiated into the seasonal rush is the Lawrence S. Martz family, of Oak Grove, Wing Lake. Lawrence, Jr., better known as Bud, is home for the summer, having completed his junior year at Dartmouth. His vacation will be devoted to reporting for the Pontiac Press in furtherance of a journalistic career. Editorial writing for the Daily Dartmouth, of which he was recently appointed managing editor, has absorbed much of his time the past year.

Another son, Dick Martz, graduate of Bloomfield Hills high school, was honored at a pre-commencement dinner party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Martz on the evening of June 18. Edgar Guest, well known as Mr. and Mrs. Henry Soebel (Janet Guest) and Mrs. Arthur Schmitt, all of Detroit; Mr. Juan La Rue, language instructor at Bloomfield Hills high, and Mrs. L. M. Maitz, who came up from Findlay, Ohio for the graduation exercises and has been house guest since.

The Lowell F. Sarnes family, of Wing Lake, have a new trophy adding a piece of prominence in their home. Last Thursday John Sarnes won the women's championship at the Wing Lake Invitational golf tournament at Orchard Lake country club, an annual affair for old and new Wing Lake members. Jack Judd was winner of the male contingent. Though the heavy storm aborted the tournament and plunged most of the clubhouse in darkness, cocktails and dinner proceeded as planned.

Fifteenth hour casting problems, with much attendant amusement, developed for Bill Merrill, director of the Will-O-Way theater on Long Lake road, last week just prior to the Tuesday night opening of "January Thaw," second play of the season. A fast switch in casting procedure, at the close of the second act, instead of the three noisy pigs originally contracted for, resulted in the use of three large silent sheep. For some unexplained reason the pigs were suddenly not available, and so the sheep, who have had an unheard debut, and brought down the curtain without even so much as a weak bleat.

A last minute complication developed upon the vacation plans of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Fuller, of Worthington road. Eight year-old Bill fractured his right arm shortly before the designated holiday which threw the household into a state of general confusion. However, the Fuller family of five, one in a cast, departed on schedule last weekend for Peterborough, Ont., for two or three weeks of recuperating at Wenhau camp.

A new organization, to be known as the Carey Lane association, was formed on June 23 by the residents of Carey lane. Its function is designed primarily for local projects such as beach improvement, maintenance of park facilities and roads, construction of community club and rafts, etc. Officers elected are: A. H. Homrich, president; E. H. Nurme, vice president and treasurer; and Mrs. Lloyd H. Stephens, secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hitchcox, of Worthington road, are entertaining Mrs. C. R. Pagenberg of Rockford, Ill., who arrived recently to attend the graduation of Robert Pagenberg from Bloomfield Hills high school. Mrs. Pagenberg, mother of Mrs. Hitchcox, will be a house guest for several weeks.

The Hitchcox family said their goodbyes over the weekend to Judith S. Andrews, school chum of Robert's who has been making his home with them. He has enlisted with the United States Army, Airborne Service and is presently in Fort Wayne awaiting processing before proceeding to Knoxville, Tenn., for basic training.

A family reunion luncheon to celebrate the birthday of aunt, Mrs. George Green, of Detroit, was hosted last Thursday by Mrs. Walter S. Ahrens, of Rockford. Other guests were Mrs. Samuel Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hull, parents of Mrs. Ahrens, all of Detroit.

The annual meeting of the Wing Lake Farms association was held recently at Wing Lake school. Officers elected were James L. Gilton, president; Marie Sullivan, vice president; Gerald Seibert, treasurer; and Edward Hanba, secretary. New directors are Richard Ford, Hugh Black and Edward Hanba. The balance of the meeting was devoted to the presentation of annual reports, discussion of the beach improvement project and announcements as to forthcoming classes. All further meetings of the association have been recessed until September.

Engagement Is Revealed

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Winkler of Lanes, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter Helen to Lt. James Craig Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Perry of Holmes of Fairfax road.

The bride-elect attended Pine Manor Junior College, received her degree from Smith College, and did graduate work at the University of Michigan.

LT. HOLMES attended Ohio Wesleyan University, is a graduate of the University of Arizona, and received his master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan. He is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta. He also belongs to Beta Gamma Sigma.

RECENTLY ANNOUNCED by her parents was the engagement of Marilyn Potter and John Ziegler, her. Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Potter of Niagara Falls, N.Y., graduated in June from Michigan State College. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Ziegler of Franklin road, Franklin, is a senior at MSU. The couple is planning a September 5 wedding.

Boulan Park Set to Open On July 4

Plans are near completion for the official opening of Troy township's first public park, Boulan Park, on Saturday, July 4. The opening will be at 10 a.m. with the dedication planned for 11 a.m. Rufus Malone, president of the Park commission and representative of the Troy Exchange Club, will officiate at the dedication.

The program has been planned by William R. Becker, Paul Gregory and Lester Tolbert. The park is at the corner of Alpine and Boulan.

Games for both children and adults are being planned with an afternoon basketball game and animal show. A new slide on the entertainment program.

Evening hours will be spent by watching a movie slated for 8 p.m. with square dancing following the movie.

The Troy Dads Club will operate a refreshment stand on the grounds and pony rides will be featured throughout the day.

Commissioners state that still a great deal of work will have to be finished when the July 4 opening, and have asked for more volunteer help.

Special Program For Ladies Opens Annual Air Show

Under sponsorship of the Aero club of Michigan, the International Aviation Exposition will open July 9 at the Detroit Wayne airport for a three-day show.

A new high this year makes opening day Ladies Day, with special entertainment features provided.

Prior to the air display, a fashion show will be staged, with the J. L. Hudson models being flown to the airport. Plane ramps will be used as stages.

Newest aircraft of all types will be flown and displayed by the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines.

Among the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills people active on the show's preparations are William H. Brech, chairman of ticket sales.

He is being assisted by Warren E. Avis, Robert L. Biggers, John F. Buggs, Lloyd Diehl, Richard W. Keller, Donald McClain, William J. Scripps and E. E. Wilson.
