This is the "Tiny Baby Type"
Eat-Neat High Chair Apron

"Tiny Baby Type" attached to chair by short tapes

Do not confuse this "Tiny Baby Type" Eat-Neat High Chair Apron with our regular "Safety Type" Eat-Neat High Chair Apron which is so popular.

This "Tiny Baby Type" has been made for use by the mother baby, and for those mothers who still wish to wash over the baby during mealtimes.

You will notice that this type can be attached to the legs of the high chair by tapes. This tends to discourage standing up in the high chair, but is not to be depended upon completely if the baby is able to stand alone. If you wish to assure baby's safety while you attend to other duties, we recommend the new, durable long-lasting "Safety-Type" Eat-Neat High Chair Apron.

MRS. THOMAS DRAPER ALLEN

Claims Bride in Muskegon At Mid-July Ceremonies

Thomas Draper Allen son of Mr. and Mrs. Draper Allen 14 Suffolk road, claimed Joyce Marie Johnson for his bride in ceremonies late Saturday afternoon, July 10, at the Samuel Lutheran Church of Muskegon. The Rev. Herbert Swanson officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Johnson of Muskegon, chose a gown of nylon tulle over taffeta, designed with a scooped round neckline outlined in Chantilly lace.

Her full skirt was appliqued in circling Chantilly lace which also featured her Juliet cap. Her fingertip veil was fashioned from French illusion and she carried bouquet of lilies, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

THE BRIDE'S sister, Patricia Ann Johnson, was her maid of honor. Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Jr., of Redding, Calif., the groom's sister, Mrs. Edgar P. Maxson, Jr., of Detroit, and Jeanette Scoville of Riverside, Ill., completed the bridal attendants.

Their waist-length gowns and short-sleeved bolero jackets were of monarch blue iridescent taffeta and featured a nylon tulle pleated inset in the bodice. Skirts were accented with a dramatic side sweep of taffeta.

Miss Johnson carried a nosegay arrangement of deep purple delphinium and stephanotis. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of purple delphinium and pink gerbera roses.

WARREN K. ORSTEIN came from Shaker Heights, O., to be the best man. Gerald Johnson, Jr., of Redding, Calif., the bride's brother, Frederick E. Booth, Jr., Edgar P. Maxson, Jr., Robert Ferguson and Robert Dean, both of Chicago, Ill., ushered.

Mrs. Johnson was in a champagne rose dinner gown of Dresden rose lace, and Mrs. Allen selected a gown of azure blue taffeta to wear with a matching tulle hat. Both she and Mrs. Johnson wore corsages of pink gerbera roses and lilies of the valley.

AFTER A reception at the Houston House, Muskegon, the newlyweds left for Banff and Lake Louise. For traveling the new Mrs. Allen changed to a navy suit of sheer wool which she wore with white accessories. They will reside in Hinsdale, Ill.

'Boy Meets Girl' Current Offering On Summer Stage

A seasoned comedy favorite, "Boy Meets Girl," opened at Will-O-Way Playhouse on Tuesday, July 23, for a two-week run.

Two veterans of the Will-O-Way stage, Robert Bryson and Gerald Harrington, will endeavor the proceedings as a team of pranksterish, nimbly-witted Hollywood writers who unwittingly get their own lives twisted into a tricky plot situation.

Always in the vulnerable position of trying to foil the extracurricular antics of his star script men is the producer, C. Elliot Friday. This role will be filled by Alan Weight, a WWJ-TV producer in offstage life.

THE FEMINE complications in the plot are provided by blonde Peggy Swanton, who appears as Susie, the not-so-nimble-witted waitress mother of Happy, baby idol of the movie-going millions.

Peter Simluk enacts the hard-to-get-along-with cowboy star, Larry Toms, who refuses to admit he's all washed up.

The play, written by Bella and Samuel Spewack, revolves merrily around the high-jinks efforts of the pair of filmland writers to fit their durable cliches into a "new" boy meets girl situation.

The plot thickens to a point where the writers wreck their own careers—almost.

WILL-O-WAY Playhouse, Michigan's oldest summer stock theatre, is located on West Long Lake Road near Harper.
