Localites were definitely in a holiday mood over the long weekend. Those who did not go out of town celebrated the 4th with beach parties, steak roasts, and regatta expeditions and picnics, many of which culminated over dark brooks.

One of the largest of these functions was an old-fashioned 4th of July party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Jr. of Wing Lake road. The all-day affair, attended by about 200 guests, included a social entertainment for the young fry, a steak roast, and a gala fireworks demonstration, made doubly spectacular by the lake reflection, which hued of the surrounding woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Hickson of Tavertit motored up to Mackinac to spend Independence Day weekend, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett of Detroit. Aside from just plain loafing, the foursome managed some golf and fishing, and including, the foursome entertained Mrs. Earl Davis, mother of Mrs. Hickson, of Washington, D. C., who came expressly to see the newest addition to the family, eight-week-old young Roberta Jane.

Adding to the out-of-town excitement, Alfred L. Kasoway (better known as Gene), of Worthington road, with sons Bob and Paul, who left last week for 10 days of fishing and swimming in the wooded area of Hudson, Wis., are guests of an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Atkinson, Miss Betty McMillan, a cousin, motored up from Cleveland to accompany them on the trip.

Among those who enjoyed a garden party on Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Sanderson of Thurber road, guests at the Beckle home of the Davis boys, along with Mr. and Mrs. John Loring of Birmingham. The Sandersons recently returned from Interlochen where they enrolled their 16-year-old daughter, Wendy, at the National Music camp for the summer.

From all indications there is never a dull moment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Fisher of Foxcroft. Latest development is the homecoming of son Lt. Russell H. Fisher, Jr., more commonly referred to as Bud, who was recently released from the U. S. Navy after a brilliant record of service in World War II and a year and a half in Korea. He is presently engaged in a very familiar civilian pursuit—quail hunting in Birmingham. The lieutenant made his arrival on the heels of his sister's departure for Europe. Nancy, whose husband, Lt. William G. Plant, is presently stationed in Kaiserslautern, Germany with the U. S. Army, left on July 1 for New York, accompanied by in-laws Mrs. and Mrs. A. Fletcher Flansburg who saw her safely on a plane for Frankfurt, where husband Bill is meeting her. The Plants, newly-
