Wing Lake-Foxcroft News

By JILL ROBERTS
Mayfair 6-3022

Last of the Florida contingent, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Aucterlone, of Wing Lake road, arrived home recently from Sarasota where they had spent several months. Mrs. Aucterlone, well known in this area as a portrait and landscape painter, is never far removed from her brushes and easel. After closing her studio in Sarasota, the only two stops she made en route from Florida were at West Va. and Cincinnati, Ohio, and were devoted to painting. Now happily settled at home, between unpacking luggage and artistic equipment, Mrs. Aucterlone has found time to visit with her daughter, Mrs. B. Dunnock and grandson, S. R. Dunnock III, better known as Tipper, who for the past week have been houseguests.

The recent toronto reports brought Alfred L. Kasameyer, of Worthington road, scurrying home from a three-day business trip to Pittsburgh, ahead of schedule. At the warning Frank Kasameyer and all the little Kasameyers had taken to one of the few local homes kindly proffered by a neighbor, awaiting the twister like the rest of us. Though the worst did not occur in this immediate section it was rather a harrowing homecoming for any husband and father with flat communiqes still pouring in.

A flying trip to New York state in a private plane to attend a college reunion constituted the three-day weekend recently for Mr. and Mrs. David Ditz of Foxcroft, accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. George Seranton, of Chicago, former Detroiters. The amphibious plane, known as "Seobird" and owned and piloted by Seranton. The occasion was the fifth class reunion of the Honorable Polytechnic Institute at Troy.

Last Friday Mrs. Richard Garkick of Wing Lake road, returned from the east where she spent several days in connection with the recent wedding of her cousin, Henry Macaulay Woodhouse to Miss Kay Neuberger of Carey Lane, City. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ralph Watkins. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson Woodhouse, of Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe.

Something new in local entertaining was introduced last Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Stephens of Carey Lane, hosted at a Florida fish fry for a group of friends. Several 20-pound kingfish, proud catch of four of the attending guests on a recent deep sea fishing trip in Florida, were prepared for guests Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Crockett and Mr. and Mrs. Marley Bricker, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Edgar and Miss Lorna Oldham, Royal Oak; James Roberts, Detroit; Harold Spittler, Upper Straits Lake; J.
