SCHOOLS OUT but one of our younger correspondents testifies that she will NEVER forget the touching scene that took place in an area classroom just a while ago. The students rise solemnly each morning and begin the day with a recitation of the pledge of allegiance piped over the p.a. system. They rise as usual this dawn and stood stolidly at attention throughout a rousing bear commercial, while the harassed principal in the office above frantically flipped switches in an effort to regain control of the combination radio-phonograph.

ONE DAY last autumn a family stopped at the 2675 East Maple road home of Mrs. Norman Lyle with an unusual request. Could they please store their bicycles in the Lyle barn? Indeed they could, and that was that until several weeks ago when summer reared its head and presumably all cyclists should be reunited with their machines. No family reappeared to claim their 'wheels' and Mrs. L. has not the faintest idea as to their identity. Can anyone help?

WITH ALL THE ENTERTAINING currently being done by the district side it is indeed refreshing to receive an item about a dinner dance being given by five recent University of Detroit High school graduates. The boys entertained eighty guests including their classmates and dates at a dinner dance Thursday evening, June 11, at Redford Country Club. Burke Cufey of Cranbrook road, one of the hosts, and his band furnished the music. His co-hosts were Michael Basford, Theodore Stanton and Lee Hogan, all of Birmingham, and Richard Butz of Royal Oak.

NEW YORK is an exciting place any old time, and particularly on one's first visit. Making their first trip to the Eastern metropolis are Sally and Sue Schlachter, teenage daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Schlachter, of Yarmouth road. Boarding the plane with them today will be their grandmother, Mrs. Henry Schlachter of Cincinnati, who is accompanying them to Gotham and then on to 'the land of the bean and the cod'. They will return by plane from Boston, being gone ten days.

VENTURING EVEN farther afield are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert V. Davis of Faculty Row, Cranbrook, who are taking a group of students abroad this summer. Busily packing for their July 3 sailing from Montreal are Ann Wald of Pontiac, former Kingswood student now at Smith; Marilyn Neff of Yorkshire road, Gwen Luce of North Woodward avenue, Bloomfield Hills, a June grad of Kingswood; Dana Hall student Frances Wilson of Half Moon drive, Ellen Hartwick of the Hightown School in Massachusetts; and Jean Horrocks of Greenwich, Conn., a former Kingswood student now attending Smith.

The group will be met by station wagons at Liverpool and will tour the British Isles, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Holland and Belgium. They will embark for home September 1.

ANOTHER VOYAGER is Joan Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Dean Burnett of Buckingham road. Joan left June 11 for New York, accompanied by Jean Sternal who says her off Saturday for Europe aboard the S.S. Constitution.

Joan will be gone two months and her itinerary also includes France, England, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy, with a side trip to Spain added. Mr. and Mrs. Burnett feted Joan with a combination twenty-first birthday and bon voyage party at the Elmwood Casino before her departure.

DEEP IN WEDDING PLANS (and everybody is, whether they be participant or spectator) are Ellen Lorraine Richard and Frederick M. Darden. They have chosen Saturday, June 27, for their nuptials at St. Hugo of the Hills. A reception will follow at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Ellen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Richard of Cranbrook road, and the prospective groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Darden of Lake Orion.

Also on the altar will be maid of honor Patricia McGinnis, and attendants Mrs. Frederick E. Nichols of Ann Arbor, the groom's sister Elaine Darden, and Mrs. George Benjamin of Wayne, Mich. James E. Henderson will come from E. Banta, Ga., to be the best man, while ushers will include Norman Berry, Jack Ortmann, Douglas Forbes of Lambertville, N. Y., Albert Burns of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Farrell Elliot, John Annas, Jr., will perform the ring-bearer's duties.

Those who have already entertained for the bride-elect are Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Mrs. John B. Taylor, Mrs. Joseph Flaherty and Mrs. John Reid who gave a shower and tea at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Jack Ortmann feted the pair at a cocktail party, and Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Smith and Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelley entertained at a party in the Kelley's Vinetta boulevard home, 'Red Oaks', the Covington, Irvine home of Mrs. John Annas, was the scene of another shower and tea for the bride-to-be, and Mrs. Michael J. Keurins hosted a gathering in Grosse Pointe.

Another shower was given by Ellen's co-teachers at the Williams Lake school. June 13 cocktails were hosted by Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Christie of Safford road and their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bromberg and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mueller. Mrs. John Wood entertained yesterday at 'High Bawn' her home in Bloomfield. Invitations for a June 21 luncheon and bar shower have been sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wise, and the junior H. D. Wises. Norman Berry, Jr., is planning a June 23 cocktail party and dinner at his home in Pleasant Ridge, and will join with his father, Norman Berry, Sr., in hosting the bachelor dinner at Orchard Lake Country Club June 24. The spinster dinner will take place that same evening at Devon Gables, with Pat McGinnis, Mrs. E. E. Nichols and Mrs. Frederick Nair the hostesses.

Mrs. and Mrs. Darden will give the rehearsal dinner at "The Dardennes", their Lake Orion home.

MARKING THEIR 27th wedding anniversary in Washington, D.C., were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Black of Rainbow drive, Leaving the Capital, the couple went to Hampton, Va., to visit daughter Mrs. Robert Tunk (Gwen Black) and their grandson, Jeff. L. Tunk formerly stationed at Ft. Ruffin, Va., was recently sent to Labrador. Continuing their trip, the Blacks swung over to Brandenburg, Ky., to see Lt. and Mrs. James R. LeRoy (Audrey Black) where Lt. LeRoy is stationed at Fort Knox. They plan to be back in time to meet daughter Sunny on her return from Hillsdale College, and to celebrate with their youngest, Vivian, on her graduation from Highland Park high school.

Babies are given to people far more than the mere opportunity to get and occasionally to lose them. They are living beings into whose lives can come the finest (or the basest) yearnings. They are living victims of parental care or carelessness.

Mid-June Social News Starred By New Galaxy of Local Brides

Weddings Take Over Calendar As Couples Say Nuptial Vows

With the calendar centered at Mid-June the traditional march to the altar is in full swing with brides very much dominating the social life in Birmingham and environs. A bevy of localities repeated their vows over the weekend in a number of traditional ceremonies that ranged from church sanctuaries to garden bowers.

Hanson-Miller

Orange blossoms from her mother's veil were fastened to the french illusion fingertip veil worn by Martha Jane Miller when she became the bride of Lee C. Hanson. The Rev. Arnold Runkel and the Rev. Glen Harris performed the ceremony Saturday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale O. Miller of Wadsworth road; Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Hanson of Walnut Lake are the parents of the groom.

The bridal gown of candlelight satin was styled with a beaded bodice and long pointed sleeves. The train back-ended in a train. A cap of heirloom rose points lace held her veil and the bride carried a small arrangement of calla lilies.

MRS. DALE O. MILLER, JR., was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Susan Halstead was the flower maid, and Lois Adriance of York, where after several days, they boarded a plane for Bermuda. For traveling the new Mrs. Hanson chose a navy linen suit with red and white accessories, accented with a corsage of red carnations. The couple will make their home in Lansing of their return.

Grand Rapids, Robert Wilkins of Detroit, Joseph Terrill of Caro, Mich., and the bride's brother, Dale O. Miller, Jr.

A RUFFET reception at Oakland Hills Country Club followed the vows. Mrs. Miller received guests in a rose taffeta gown with a rose velvet hat and bague accessories. She pinned a spray of green orchids to her purse. Mrs. Hanson chose a blue lace costume for her son's wedding.

The newlyweds left for New York after several days. They boarded a plane for Bermuda. For traveling the new Mrs. Hanson chose a navy linen suit with red and white accessories, accented with a corsage of red carnations. The couple will make their home in Lansing of their return.

Tiernan-Kleinert

Joanne M. Kleinert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Kleinert of Yarmouth road, became the bride of Lt. Thomas Tiernan, USAF, at four o'clock Friday afternoon at Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. William C. Norvell performed the ceremony.

The bride wore ivory nylon tulle over ivory tulle with hand-corded Alencon lace applied on the sweetheart neckline and the waist-length skirt which also had an insert of piped nylon tulle. A Juliet cap of matching lace and pleated nylon tulle held a short, triple-tiered illusion veil.

TO BE HER sister's only attendant, Marilyn Kleinert wore a waist-length gown of embroidered white organza over pale blue tulle, and carried an arrangement of blue delphinium.

James S. Tiernan (came from Chicago, Ill., to be his brother's best man. Both are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Tiernan of Kankakee, Ill. Philip Pratt of Pontiac and Eugene Ryan of Royal Oak ushered.

Mrs. Kleinert chose pale pink tulle highlighted with a beaded neckline, while Mrs. Tiernan selected beige for her son's nuptials.

A RECEPTION followed at the Orchard Lake Country Club. The groom will report in July for duty in Germany where the bride will join him later in the summer.

Hubbard-Osler

The garden of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shipman Osler of Glangery Circle of Bloomfield Village, was chosen by Elizabeth Webster Osler for her marriage to James Alfred Hubbard, Jr.

The couple repeated their vows before the Rev. Robert DeWitt at 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hubbard of Lone Pine Court, Bloomfield Hills.

The bridal gown of white mouseline de soie featured a fitted bodice with three-quarter sleeves and a portrait neckline touched with Alencon lace. Panels of matching lace followed the princess lines of her bouffant skirt and fell into a sweeping train.

A TIERED veil of illusion was held by a princess cap of Alencon lace; and the bride carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and Amazon lilies.

In identical strapless ballerin dresses of blue mist silk organza with shrug jackets were minor attendant Barbara Averill and bridesmaids Lynette Lamb of Tulsa, Okla., Nancy Webster of Westport, Conn., Carol Klein, Mini Viewor of Youngstown, O., and flower girl, Jane Hubbard, the crown was scented with pearls.

Pink carnations accented their ivory headresses, and the bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of rapture roses and pink carnations. White carnations accented Miss Averill's colonial bouquet.

DAVID HUBBARD, the brother of the groom was the best man. Ushers included Henry M. Hosen, Jr., John Berestford, David Somers, and John Osler, Jr., the brother of the bride.

For the ceremony and the reception which was also set in the garden, Mrs. Osler wore a cocktail length gown in a blue shade, with a corsage of gardenias and roses. Mrs. Hubbard wore a gray blue cocktail dress with chalk white beading. Stephanotis and ivy formed her corsage.

The couple are honeymooning in Northern Michigan. The bride's going-away costume is a gray blue silk suit faced in yellow and white and yellow accessories.

Tornow-Doyle

Chantilly lace over white satin was worn by Ruth Marilyn Doyle as she exchanged double-ring vows with William Herman Tornow at a nuptial high Mass said by the Rev. Richard Parrish at Holy Name Church Saturday morning.

The bride, who resided on Greenwood avenue, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Doyle of Harb, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Tornow of Appleton, Wis., are the parents of the groom.

THE BRIDAL GOWN was styled with an Elizabethan collar, fitted bodice, and skirt of triple tiered nylon tulle over white satin with a chapel train. Mrs. Chantilly lace crown was scented with pearls and her fingertip veil was of double illusion. The bride carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

THEIR SILK strapless ballerinas in an aqua shade were topped with jeweled jackets. They wore matching colored net leaves in their hair and carried white calla lily bouquets.

Harold Timmers came from Chicago to be the best man. Guests were seated by Frederick G. Richards, Jr., Frederick Otto and Leo Kulkka. (See WEDDINGS on Next Page)
