

Birmingham Hi-Society Writing Awards To 13 Students

By KITTY SCHOONMAKER

"Jose Greco" was attended by members of the Spanish club with Mrs. Sally Reid, Miss Angelina Jardine and Miss Virginia Niles. After the dinner, the Creative Writing Awards Contest, 13 were Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills students.

Out of 80 Kingwood School Cranbrook and Cranbrook School winners in the regional competition, 13 were from the Creative Writing Awards Contest, 13 were Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills students.

First place in local schools went to Richard Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce G. Booth, Birmingham, and Alan Gariki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Gariki, Birmingham.

Second place awards were Jo Frederickson, Celia Spesky, Judy Wood, Ellen Flint, and Barbara Knoblock, of Kingwood; Alan Carter, Barnes from Cranbrook School.

Third place awards went to Kingwood girls, Mely Marshall, Dorothy Johnson, Shirley Smith, and to Richard Booth, Robert Whitelatch and Phil Le Meurier.

Dick Booth's winning poetry and Alan Carters winning historical composition were submitted to national competition in Washington, D.C. Their entries were chosen from among 5,000 manuscripts.

A hide hide the country. They have grand father cabin, a log cabin, a daughter-dad picnic, trips to museums, and going to see Helen Hayes in "Mrs. McThing." Next week the girls will meet at the Community House at seven o'clock for all those interested in now with Robin Reed as chairman. A group of the girls took joining the troop.

A TOUR OF THE WORLD in an evening is the program planned for Pierce school visitors when they arrive at the PTA open house Thursday night, March 19. With decorations in the school's two floors decorated in the style of each country, "tourists" will be able to sample various foreign foods and see the different curios and products of lands around the world. Above, left to right, Sharon Snow, Dennis Sidorski, Terry Kabat and Dennis Rautio examine the Irish hut they constructed in their room. At left, Sharlene Hinshaw and Camilla Warnick stop to admire a doll from the first floor show case. (Eccentric Staff Photos)

MEN'S FASHION ORIGINATOR GIVES FLANNEL 12-MONTH LEASE ON LIFE

For 1953, the famed men's wear stylist Victor Lebow has originated a super-light version of favored flannel to prove his contention. He has named it "Doeskin Flannel," and it weighs a mere 10 ounces per luxuriously soft-textured yard.

Not satisfied with creation of a new, lighter flannel, Lebow-enriched "Doeskin" with a handsome hairline stripe, woven into the fine flannel in attractive color tones.

Particularly featured are the "mist" tones: Mist gray, Mist blue, Mist brown.
