74TH YEAR - NO. 8
MAY 7, 1953

Lathrup News On City News

By NORMAN DOUGLAS

Numerous prescriptions are being offered for Southfield township's growing pains, but whether the majority of township residents will follow any of the doctor's orders is a question that must be answered at the polls.

The suburban trend out Woodward avenue during the past 25 years has spread west along Coalidge, Greenfield and Southfield roads since the end of World War II.

Oak Park is one of the newest incorporated areas in the southern part of Oakland county, and indications point to Southfield as the next logical center of incorporation.

A FEW REMARKS ABOUT DOGS AND TRAINING THEM

For more than 30 years our household has had a dog and the presence of a faithful dog. One of them he had for over 12 years, and he is being buried tomorrow. He had a very good nature and was very affectionate. He was very intelligent and was very obedient. He was very loyal and was very affectionate. He was very intelligent and was very obedient. He was very loyal and was very affectionate.

THEN WE GOT one of those confused little dogs...

SO WE TOOK him in, and with every feeding he grew in stature. When the days were becoming warmer in late winter he seemed to get an about of the fever in backyard.

IN THE MEANTIME in a further effort to help...

I was much interested because, the first evening, the instructor said, "If you have owned, or how much you have grown fond of them, you'll not get the feeling from them until they learn to obey you. Then they really become your pet."

SOME WERE large, like collies and German police dogs...

THE BASIC theme of teaching a dog to obey is to let him know that you intend to be the boss. To speak in a loud demanding voice, plus a good yank on the leash, when you have a command.

WELL, WE'VE attended four of the ten classes so far...

Talk about raising children... how similar to dog training... only the dog supposed to be some fairly civilized in ten weeks and a child require a whole life-time.

STRICTLY FRESH

American club women touring Germany sampled traditional German pastry and found it delicious but fattening. Guess calories don't need translating, they're universal.

A British Overseas Airways official boarded an airplane Chimp in a London airport and found it the next morning reading the arm chair watching TV. That chimp was no monkey.

Party-riders at a western university found a car full of goodies for damage done and lingerie stolen. Just a small lesson in the fact that crime doesn't pay - but criminal do.

A New England criminal threw his shoe at a court judge. Bet the judge threw the book at him for that.
