

GIRL SCOUTS in Troop 367 are extremely proud of their new flag which they made. The green and gold center emblem was traced, cut out and painted by Nancy Perkins, while all the machine stitching on the flag was done by Carol Wimmer. The felt letters and numerals made up a project shared by the 12 girls. From the center of the background, shown here admiring their finished flag are Carol Marsh, Janet Strong, Suzanne Russell, Linda Holland, Beverly Stinet, Sharon Bacon, Carol Wimmer, Linda Wheeler, Linda Nemo, Nancy Perkins, Marjorie Russell and Martha Hoopin. The girls, all 10 years old and in their first year of scouting, meet weekly at Adams school under the leadership of Mrs. L. T. Marsh, Mrs. Norman Strong and Mrs. G. E. Perkins. News About GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 307 QUARTON SCHOOL
 Girl Scout Troop 307 of Quanton school, Mrs. Robert Voss, leader, took the honors for selling the most Girl Scout calendars. Proceeds from the sale are used to buy facilities for Camp Narrin. United Foundation funds for Scouts are used for administrative purposes only, so the Scouts themselves earn money for extras for their camps through the sale of calendars and cookies. All fifth and sixth grade Scouts engaged in this competition.

The three sixth grade troops are making Christmas stockings this month, which will be filled by the students of Kingswood school for their annual party for the crippled children of Oakland county.

TROOP 322-QUARTON SCHOOL
 Girl Scout troop 322 of Quanton school met with its leaders, Mrs. Thomas Snelham, Mrs. C. F. Payton and Mrs. Robert Wolfe, and completed the pilgrim type tray favors to be sent to local hospitals. The troop recently divided into two patrols, "Busy Beavers" and "Trail Blazers" and chose the pine tree as the troop crest. The project "Tully" was successfully carried out when the troop planted 100 tulip bulbs in front of Quanton school.

National book week will be observed with a field trip under the supervision of Mrs. Donald McCord. Troop will travel to the Book House Book shop in Rochester for a book review of leading children's books. Margaret McCord is in charge of refreshments. This month Mrs. Edwin Mork will instruct the girls in making original designs for their Christmas project.
