SOUTHEAST OF BIRMINGHAM—September and early October has been a busy time for the Alvin Robinsons of Bembridge road. They spent ten days in eastern Ontario hunting Hungarian partridge which have been recently introduced there from Europe. Following this trip, which included stops in Toronto and Ottawa, Robinson went near Whitmore, Mich. with his father, Dr. Hartley Robinson of Bloomfield Hills to hunt grouse. Last weekend, his brother and sister-in-law arrived from their home in Berkeley, Calif. to spend three weeks.

The Clark Quinns of Groveland avenue, Mrs. Quinn's mother, Mrs. Mary Moore of Lakewood, Ohio, and her brother and his family, the Fenton Moores of Cleveland spent last weekend visiting the Quinns' recently acquired site for a summer place on Grand Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sage of Lake Forest, Ill. stopped for a week with his brother and family, the Alvin Sages of Burnham road. The Clifford Sages are touring Maine and New Hampshire.

Last weekend the Donald Regans of Dowagiac with their baby daughter Sharon Ann visited their parents the Philip Regans of Grandfield court and visited Mrs. Regan's parents, the G. Russell Widgers of Burnham road. Regan's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Regan of Moorehead, Minn., made the visits with them.

Mrs. James Myers arrived two weeks ago from Edinburgh, Scotland, after crossing on the United States for her third visit with her daughter and family, the Robert Colemans of Robinson avenue. Mrs. Myers expects to spend the next six months visiting here and enjoying her twin granddaughters, Susan and Elizabeth age four, and her grandson, Allen who is two years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Murray, Jr., and son Kent have returned to Mankato avenue after spending a week visiting his parents the Leo Murrays in Worcester, Mass. Hester Strohach who is a student at the University of Toronto spent the weekend with the Harold Chastains of Robinson avenue. On Saturday, Chastain's nephew, Bill Cowan, accompanied the guest to the Iowa-Michigan football game in Ann Arbor.

The Richard Ernsts of Elmwood avenue returned to their alma mater Michigan State College Saturday to see the football game with Texas Christian.

Mrs. Henry Reinhold, assisted by Mrs. Nick Preda, entertained the Elmwood Avenue club last Friday evening. Regular club members who attended were Mrs. Marvin Meisel, Mrs. Don Laclelle, Mrs. Richard Strohm, Mrs. Cyril Maxwell, Mrs. Robert Browning, Mrs. Richard Colville, Mrs. Donald Buckles, Mrs. Harry Fritsam, Mrs. George Arnold of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Francis Kelly, Mrs. Jack Stewart and Mrs. William Coatsworth. "Tweeds, Tartans, and Countrywear"

Mrs. Madames Carlon Patterson, Alfred LaBelle, Benjamin Brewster, W. Colt Allen, James Beresford, Dwight Allen, William L. Graham, Marvin Kinn, David Lee, Parsons Neff, John Sanders, J. Thomas Smith, F. G. Garrison and Alice Wright.

Directors met last week to plan the event and discuss plans for the annual in-gathering of which they are preliminary features.

THE 86 ANNUAL in-gathering will be at the Community House on Oct. 25, when all sewing material will be received for distribution among the underprivileged. Throughout the entire year Guild members continue their plans and efforts for this one annual event. Garments are made to provide adequate clothing for children of all ages who otherwise would go neglected.

The Birmingham branch, as it carries on its program, is but one of many throughout the United States, all working toward the same goal, good clothes for youngsters whose families are in need.
