Is he in 'business' "to stay?"

When you buy a used car from a Ford Dealer, you're dealing with an established businessman who has a large investment and his good name at stake. We're here today, and we'll be here tomorrow!

Does he really know cars?

Ford Dealers are in the service business, too; work with cars day in and day out. We know how to spot trouble fast. And, our expert mechanics have the equipment and "know-how" to handle any service job.

Are his prices really fair?

Ford Dealers handle used cars and trucks as a service to customers who trade them for new ones. We get a lot of trade-ins. And we keep these used cars moving to free our working capital. That's one reason why we offer our used cars and trucks at rock-bottom prices.

Is he interested in you?

Remember—we Ford Dealers want to keep your good will because someday we hope to sell you a new car, or another used car, and we want your service business. It's just plain good business for us to play square with you.

Do his cars meet A-1 standards?

When you go to a Ford Dealer's and see the A-1 label on a car, you know it has met with the dealer's A-1 standards. And because you can trust the man you bought it from, you can trust the car.

Donor Again Provides Book Purchase Funds

For the fifth consecutive year an anonymous donor has contributed special funds for 25 area institutions to purchase books at the AAUW book sale.

Mrs. George Squibb, general chairman, said representatives of Birmingham public schools and others in the area, Holy Name school, public libraries, children's homes and hospitals would visit the sale during a special sale Sunday, Oct. 18, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Following this, AAUW members and their families will preview the sale for an additional two hour period, with members of the board assisting.

The 26th annual sale to the public will get under way on Monday at 8 a.m., continuing through the week.

Monday, Thursday and Friday sale hours will be from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon.

THE SALE will culminate a project that has actually been going on for a full year. Books have been collected by members and stored in their homes until sale time.

Children, among the most steady customers at the sale, have been busy during the final days canvassing their own neighborhoods to assure a good supply of the books they will want to purchase.

Workers on the 1953 sale report many best sellers among the books they will offer and several other donations which raise the standards of the sale higher than is customary.

"Several residents," a spokesman said, "have found it necessary to reduce the size of their own libraries. The books they have donated are volumes which were purchased originally to occupy permanent places on their bookshelves."

"IN ADDITION to this, a teacher has given several cartons of books, all catalogued."

Miss Jeanne Lloyd, head of Edgewood public library, said she felt one of the outstanding features of the sale was the opportunity it gives faithful customers to build up excellent home libraries.

"These good books can be added to one's personal library for an incredibly small amount of money," she said.

Music, records and monthly magazines are also sold at this time.

BOOKS HAVE been moved from the various storage "depots" during the week while Mrs. Gilbert
