PLAY IT SAFE!

Explosives Claims Many Lives Yearly

Dynamite, gun powder, shells, firearms, fireworks, hand grenades and World War souvenirs are not toys.

It is the responsibility of the adult to see that these items are out of sight and reach of children. There is no place in the home safe for these items when children are around.

Children should be instructed by their parents to respect and stay away from all types of explosives where ever they may be. Two boys in Grayling were killed just last week while playing with artillery shells.

It is hard today to find a newspaper in which some boy or girl has not been either blinded, injured or killed by some form of explosive. Most of these accidents could have been prevented if the parents had taken a few minutes to explain the danger.

Playing with any form of explosives can also lead to serious fires, in which persons are burned to death.

"PLAY IT SAFE"
Instruct your children to stay away from explosives and explain to them just what can and has happened in the past.
