

City's Halloween Party Needs More Room

Even the ghosts and the goblins in Birmingham are having growing pains! Birmingham's recreation board, like its school board, is facing the problem of too many people for the amount of space available as plans for the 1953 annual Halloween party are launched.

At its recent meeting, the board discussed the problem, even considering "allow others than the schools." "It's fine to consider other locations," Deas Beyer said, "but area between Hill and Baldwin it seems a shame to have to take the parade out of this section. There's something special about marching down the main street of the home town, and Woodward and Maple mean this to the people living here."

PIERCE FIELD was among one of the possible sites considered and was reported as being unfavorable about a period of bad weather prevail before and at the time of the party.

"The field will be soft and muddy," Frank Whitney, recreation director, pointed out, "and will not be too good should we have a crowd the size of last year's." "In addition, the lighting there is not as good, especially for the spectators, as it is in the old location." Uptown parking lots were offered as possible sites, but no definite action was taken.

After hearing the various ideas, Richard W. Reese, Halloween chairman, asked Mrs. Henry Jackson, board chairman, Mrs. Cassius Miller, J. Lyman Craig, Jr., and Malcolm Adam to meet with him and discuss plans.

"This Hill-Baldwin section has become so closely associated with the party that it wouldn't seem quite right to hold it in another place."

THIS COMMITTEE will operate on the basis of continuing at the Hill-Baldwin site. A careful study of the available space will be made

State Traffic Toll Is Headed For Record High

Michigan's traffic fatality record for the first seven months of 1953 pressed close to the one thousand mark as death, injury and accident tolls continued upward at an alarming rate during July. The month accounted for the third highest monthly statistical report, 1953 will be the worst year on record if the trend continues. If so, there will be an estimated 1,949 deaths, 58,045 injuries, and 183,538 accidents.

The estimated death toll would be the third highest, being exceeded only in 1937 and 1941, when there were more than 2,000 fatalities each year. But the casualty total—deaths and injuries combined—of 59,997 would far exceed last year's record high of 60,827. The high for accidents was 176,687 in 1951.

JULY DEATHS increased 37, or 29 per cent, over the 140 for the same month last year. There were 5,078 injuries, an increase of 761, or 18 per cent, over 4,317. Accidents increased 2,281, or 18 per cent, 14,820 over 12,539.

Michigan's traffic record for the first seven months included 988 deaths, 31,278 injuries and 101,663 accidents. Compared to the same period last year, deaths were up 114, or 13 per cent. Injuries were up 5,364, or 20 per cent, and accidents increased 12,069, or 13 per cent.

Estimated travel for the first six months of this year, the latest figures available, was 12.6 billion miles. It was a ten per cent increase over 11.4 billion miles during the same period last year.

The death rate of 6.5 per cent over hundred million miles of travel was up two per cent over the rate of 6.4 for the same period in 1952.
