

Lions Club Takes Golf Championship

The Birmingham Lions Club wrestled the Birmingham service club's golf trophy from the defending champion Rotary Club Wednesday Sept. 16, at Sunnybrook Golf Club. Rotary was runner-up.

The Lions foursome posted a 180 total to take honors at the annual outing of the combined city service clubs while team member, Hal P. Buerge, won the touring medalist crown with a 73. Russell Downey posted the second low with a 74.

The team and their individual scores were Hal Buerge, 73; Russell Downey, 76; Jack Andrews, 80; and Eddie Reese, 80.

Buerge combined rounds of 36 and 37 to post his low score. His best hole featured an eagle on the 14th when he stroked the ball home with a seven iron.

Low score for the Exchange Club was Carleton Scott who carded an 80. Henry Johnson was low man for Rotary with an 82.

The tourney attracted 35 players and 67 attended the dinner following the play. The Exchange Club hosted the event.

Graham Crusade Has City Church Support

More than a year of planning and preparation has gone into the program which will open Sept. 27 at the state fair grounds in Detroit, when the noted evangelist, the Rev. Dr. William C. Graham starts his five-week schedule.

The Rev. Emil Kottz, minister of the First Baptist church, represented the Birmingham Council of Churches at the many meetings. When the committee was finally appointed 10 months ago, another local man, A. G. Helgeson of Redeemer Lutheran church, was named to an active part in the planning.

According to Mr. Kottz, many hours have gone into the task, with clergy and laymen working together.

First problem facing the committee was to find a building large enough to accommodate the vast crowds which come to hear Dr. Graham wherever he appears.

THERE WASN'T anything around that we could find, so the committee decided to erect a special building with the state fair grounds picked as the site," Mr. Kottz said. "A massive new auditorium, seating over 12,000, has been erected for this purpose.

"Services will be held here every evening during the five weeks, with special programs planned for Sunday afternoons," Mr. Kottz explained.

"Many thousands of church laymen will take part in the various programs, singing in the huge choirs, serving as ushers and as personal workers for the overall success of the Graham crusade."

ONE OF the high points of the crusade will be a mass meeting planned for Reformation Sunday on Oct. 25. This afternoon service will be held in Briggs stadium when Dr. Graham will speak over a nationwide radio hookup.

The Reformation sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. James Pike, pastor at St. John the Divine church in New York City.

Speaking for the Birmingham Church Council, Mr. Kottz said that group would support the crusade in every way possible.

"At our meeting last week, we voted to encourage the people of our churches to attend and afford themselves the opportunity of hearing this dynamic young speaker. As ministers, we feel that every person who hears this young man has a chance to have his or her Christian life deepened and enriched.

"THERE IS one thing about 'Billy Graham' which is, perhaps, outstanding in that he works with people to create a closer tie between them and their own churches. His visits in other sections have resulted in marked increases in church attendance and membership for all faiths."

He added that the committee expected this would be true of the more than 500 churches involved in the local appearance of Dr. Graham.

Birmingham Declines To Supply Services To Bloomfield House

George K. Harris, 18450 Rosemont, Detroit presented a request to the Birmingham city commission Monday night for the city to provide sewage and water facilities to the new home he intends to occupy soon at 1525 Northlawn, Bloomfield township.

Harris stated that he desired such arrangement for a temporary period until such time as his property came under the jurisdiction of the proposed Eliver Rouge sewage and water authority.

The commission denied the request without prejudice, stating that such action was against city policy because the property involved lies outside the city limits.

National Magazine Item Is of Local Interest

A recent issue of National Geographic in an article "From Tucson to Tombstone," showed numerous pictures with a Birmingham girl, Kit Scheifele appearing in two of them.

Miss Scheifele, who has a B.A. degree in anthropology from the University of Arizona, is now secretary and assistant curator at the Heard Museum in Phoenix. She recently returned to her duties after attending the archeological and anthropological conference at Flagstaff.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Scheifele, 176 Linden, and a graduate of Baldwin high school.

Science Institute Attracts 62,000 During The Year

Tripled attendance at Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills school groups at Cranbrook Institute of Science during the past year helped set a new visitor record.

More than 62,000 persons or an increase of 12% over last year, visited the Institute this year, including 552 organized groups from various parts of Michigan, other states and Canada.

A program of museum instruction sponsored by the Birmingham branch of the AAUW, and under the direct supervision of Mrs. John D. McMillan, encouraged many teachers of the local area to bring their science classes to the Institute for special lectures.

Housing the largest natural history museum in the Detroit area, the Institute furthered its education services by adding 13 temporary exhibits to its permanent displays, distributing 4,378 copies of its own science books, and presenting 13 lecture and film programs.

TWO MAJOR scientific books were issued—"Fems of Michigan" by Cecil Billington, and "Faunal and Archeological Researches in Yucatan Caves" by Dr. Hatt and others; and another, "Farwelliana," was being prepared for publication.

Hundreds of persons attended observatory demonstrations, bird-study walks and gem-cutting classes directed by Institute associates; and a wide variety of objects having scientific value were contributed by 41 donors.

Continuing research in plant and animal life was conducted by staff members, including bird-banding by Walter P. Nickell which resulted in the marking of 1,750 birds of 57 species.

The year's most unusual demonstration concerned the emergence of the 17-year cicada. Over a three-day period, 1,500 people came to a wooded site in Bloomfield Hills to hear lectures on the event by Institute staff members, and to watch the cicadas come out of the ground after dark.
