

Mystery Campout Really A Mystery To B-4 Members

Troop B-4 members pictured above are looking ahead to this coming weekend, April 3 and 4, when nearly 45 Scouts will learn to sustain themselves on only the equipment and food in their packs on a mystery wilderness campout. The St. Bernard pup will be left to his warm bed at home. Scouts explain that he already is lost.

Scoutmaster Bob Engelhardt will be assisted by three committeemen on the campout and are keeping the destination of their overnight a secret from the Scouts.

Each Scout will have to be fully prepared to make his own shelter, cook meals and find a water supply.

The only items they will be allowed to take will be a canteen, knife, axe, blanket or sleeping bag, rope, compass, flashlight and food for two days.

Troop B-27 Plans First Overnight

The Bloomfield Village Troop B-27 was a guest of Troop B-27 in the Baptist church Scout room last Tuesday when both troops, parents and guests, watched a demonstration presented by "Uncle Otto," Detroit's oldest and liveliest Scout.

At the regular meeting of B-27 Tuesday, April 6, each Scout is to be prepared for an inspection of his camping equipment as the troop reads for an overnight campout at Camp Mishawaka on Saturday and Sunday, April 10 and 11. This Palm Sunday campout will be the first overnight for the troop.

Lapeer Campout Planned For B-5

Fathers of Scouts and Explorers of Troop B-5 will meet Sunday afternoon, April 4, at 3 p.m. at the home of Mark Frank, 440 Chesterfield.

At this meeting the fathers of Explorer Scouts Ayers, Dowd, McGinnis, Nickel, Park and Riley will discuss infection plans and Explorer activities with other fathers Barger, Bradford, Dywib, Hardy, Pew, Staalin and Ward.

Community House's Roll Call Is $1,000 Short of '54 Goal

Only one more thousand to go if the 1954 Community House Roll Call is to meet its $45,000 goal.

Mrs. Herriet Ketchum, drive chairman, said all contacts had been made, final letters having been mailed within the past 10 days.

"We sincerely hope those who still plan to contribute will give prompt attention to our appeal," she said. "The Roll Call has dragged this year, as never before, and we are extremely anxious to finish it so we may release volunteer workers who would like to devote their time to other things."

I feel that one of the most important factors in being a city commissioner is having a current awareness of the problems and conditions which face the City of Birmingham. Not only am I a resident of the city, but more important by having my business here, I am enabled to more fully realize the function of our city government and its corresponding problems.

My personal contribution to a discussion of the various phases of local problems including poor residential roads, lack of recreational activities for its youth, congested traffic areas, and inadequate parking facilities, will be on the basis of having "first hand information."

If you believe your City Commission should include a local resident-businessman who is here 24 hours every day and thus can look into local problems as they may arise, then cast one of your votes for
