

Harvard Concert Will Attract Many from Area

When the Harvard Glee club swings into Detroit on its spring tour, it will find Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills has had an active part in preparing a warm welcome for the 55 singers.

An ever-increasing number of Harvard Alumni from the area are planning to attend the April 5 concert at the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Detroit, taking friends with them.

Under the chairmanship of David C. Crawford, several committees in this and the Detroit area, have been working for weeks to complete arrangements of the affair. It has been pointed out by this group that the proceeds of this appearance will be earmarked for the Harvard Club of Eastern Michigan's scholarship fund.

AMONG THE 40 area sponsors contributing to the success of the April 5 affair are Alden Shaw, headmaster at the Detroit university school; James B. Webber, Jr., Edward C. Acomb, John S. Newberry, Roger M. Kevoy, Gordon W. Love, Malcolm Adams, Robert L. Hatch, William K. Ginman, John Hutchinson and Francis H. Phelps, Jr.

Lawrence J. Verdier, Howard L. Parker and Benjamin Brewster, past presidents of the Eastern Michigan club, have also been active in sponsoring the event.

The Glee club, now in its 97th year and described as one of the most superb choral units in the country, is including two Philippine Islands folk songs in its repertoire.

TO PROVIDE the arrangements for the Harvard group, the Manila Symphony society conducted a contest won by Roman Salazar for his arrangement of the folk song "Luley", and Rosendo E. Santos, Jr., instructor at the Philippines Conservatory of Music for the 19th century song "Sampaguita".

The Harvard Club of the Philippines donated toward the prizes which were awarded at the annual Music and Dance Festival last August.

Nearly 100 persons in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area, have made known their plans to dine at the University club in Detroit before the concert. Mrs. William K. Ginman is handling local reservations.

A buffet luncheon will be held for visiting members of the club at the home of Mrs. John C. Cooney, Bloomfield Hills, on Monday.

Assisting her will be Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, Helen Cooney, Allison Bewley and her guest Sara Wood, and Joey Neff.
