Cosmic Comedy Now Being Seen At Will-O-Way

A saxophonist-lover actor plays the part of a saxophone-playing boxer in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan", opened for a two-week run at Will-O-Way Playhouse, Tuesday evening, Aug. 17. William W. Merrill directs the ingeniously contrived fantasy written by Harry Segall.

Paul Barry is cast as Joe, the musical fighter, which was portrayed by Robert Montgomery in the 1941 movie. George C. Scott is taking the title role, which Claude Rains made famous.
The cosmic comedy deals with the frustration of an aggressive, would-be prize fighting champ who dies 50 years ahead of the schedule. Flying from his training camp to New York, Joe's plane crashes. Messenger 2013, piloted by Robert Bryson, snatches him from his earthly body and takes him for celestial registration. By the time the error of the premature arrival is discovered, Joe's body has been cremated in the fiery crash.

BODY REPLACEMENT is up to the registrar, Mr. Jordan. Joe, of course, demands a perfect physical specimen so that he can pursue his earthly ambitions.
The body of a murder victim conveniently presents itself, and Joe agrees to try it. While in his body, Joe falls in love, gets involved in a family tangle and gets shot.
Mr. Jordan comes along again and together they conduct another search.
Finally, Joe finds a permanent berth for his soul and personality, and works his way to a happy solution to his troubles, despite the bewilderment of his friends and associates at the weird happenings.

Paul Barry, a newcomer to Will-O-Way, has had a wide experience on radio, TV, the stage and films. He has played in "Space Patrol" for ABC-TV in Hollywood; he has appeared on the stage from coast to coast. Some movies he was in are "The Bridges at Toko-Ri," "Those Reported Missing," "Brigadoon," and "Battle Cry."

Lynn Ann Tunnicliffe Wed in Christ Church

Tall vases of white chrysanthemums flanked by seven branch candelabra holding tall cathedral flowers was the setting for the wedding of Lynn Ann Tunnicliffe and Richard Rusch Shallberg. The Rev. Perry Williams performed the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, in Christ Church Cranbrook.

Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Browning Tunnicliffe of Cranbrook road. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Edward Shallberg of Henrietta avenue.

The bridal gown of white nylon tulle over white silk taffeta was fashioned with pleats of tulle falling into a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves edged in hand corded alencon lace. There were pleated insets of tulle edged with matching lace on the bodice and skirt with a sweep train.

A three-tier fingertip veil of white silk illusion was held by a matching nylon tulle and lace fitted cap. A bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with white Garnette roses and Iceland poppies vines was carried by the bride.

MAID of honor was Jane Dickenson of Beaver Falls, Pa. The bridesmaids were Mrs. John Gould and Miriam Baxter, both of Grosse Pointe, Sally Collins of Birmingham, Mrs. John Zinser of Long Beach, Calif., and Marjorie Beenen of Grand Rapids.

Ice blue chiffon gowns dressed the bridesmaids and maid of honor. The gowns had tucked bodices, square necklines, pleated waist-length skirts with ice blue cummerbunds. They wore tiny hats of ice blue braided straw with short face veils and blue net mitts. Nosegay bouquets of Garnette roses with ivy strands and centered with pink sweetheart roses were carried by the attendants.

William Shallberg of Birmingham, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Guy Tunnicliffe, brother of the bride, Charles Shallberg, brother of the bridegroom, Sinclair Boynton and Ward Abbott, all of Birmingham and Carson Dalton of Verona, N. J.

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tunnicliffe selected a waltz-length dress of pale pink lace over pink taffeta with matching accessories. Her corsage was of allium lilies and demure roses.
Mrs. Shallberg wore a French blue Peau de soie waltz-length dress with beige accessories. A corsage of rebrum lilies and Garnette roses was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

A garden reception was held at the bride's parents' home. The guests danced in a lighted garden. The couple motored to Maine, where they will stay at Deer Isle.

son, Larry Johnson, Douglas Drury, Mary Shorn, Byron Webster and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" will play through Sunday, Aug. 29. Monday evenings excepted, as is the theatre's custom.

A son, David Heston, was born to MR. AND MRS. HERMAN STONE, 1211 Webster, July 10.

A son, Donald Fraser, was born Aug. 11 to MR. AND MRS. ROBERT CAVANAUGH of Royal Oak. Mrs. Cavanaugh is the former Nancy Bell of Birmingham.

A daughter, Gayle Ann, was born July 28 to MR. AND MRS. T. R. MILLER, 2042 Dorchester.

before going to Boston, Mass. In September Richard reports for duty at Fort Sill, Okla. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in June. Mrs. Shallberg will accompany him.
A grey cotton dress with a bolero jacket, trimmed in white was the bride's traveling costume. She wore black patent shoes with a matching bag and a small grey felt hat. A corsage of yellow cyripedium orchids was pinned to her ensemble.

OUT-OF-TOWN guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Carson Dalton of Verona, N. J., Richard Herbruck, Richard Savage and Donna Michael, all of Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodspeed of Evanston, Ill., and Carlton Crumb of Oakland, Calif.
Mr. and Mrs. Nell Graham and Barbara Graham of Captive Island, Fla., Mrs. Charles Tunnicliffe and Vera Tunnicliffe of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Tunnicliffe of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs.
