

Facing Serious Blood Shortage, Red Cross Says

A new Oakland county chapter, American Red Cross executive blood committee moved this week to try to help to solve a blood shortage so serious it has emptied the Detroit regional blood center.

"We're out of blood—just plain out," Dr. E. W. Bauer, blood program chairman, said today. "This is the most critical blood crisis in local Red Cross history. If there's any group, or community in Oakland county that can get one hundred people together to give blood, please call Red Cross chapter officers. We'll schedule a Bloodmobile visit. We've never needed it more."

The new committee, headed by Mrs. V. Van Fleet of Birmingham, vice-chairman of the county-wide Red Cross blood program, met last week at the Southfield township home of Mrs. Dalton F. Sifton, chairman of Bloodmobile schedules.

Committee also includes Mrs. Robert Vint of Lathrup Village, blood chairman for South Oakland county, Mrs. N. E. Durocher of Waterford, Pontiac area blood chairman, Mrs. O. E. Koskison of Birmingham, North Oakland blood chairman, Mrs. Sheldon R. Noble, Southfield, Red Cross service groups chairman, Mrs. John Blanchard, Birmingham, chairman of Bloodmobile volunteers and Mrs. Edward Lerchen, chairman of Birmingham's blood program.

DR. BAUER pointed out today the committee is tackling "an emergency job." "Pontiac general hospital was down to eight pints of blood last week," he said. "They should have one hundred at least. Two patients there needed blood. The Red Cross could not supply it. The hospital had to appeal for volunteer donors for the first time in years."

"People are giving blood at scattered Bloodmobile visits throughout the Detroit region," Dr. Bauer said. "Royal Oak gave one hundred and three pints last week. It was gone in 24 hours. We can't keep up with the demand—the 'mobiles' are too far apart.

"If we have a train wreck, serious fire, bus collision—anything that puts a dozen people in need of blood—we're going to be in trouble," he said. "Somebody may die because that blood just isn't there."

$1/4 Million Terraces Await Zone Hearing

The proposed quarter million dollar terrace project along the east side of Eton road below Villa was referred to the city plan board by the city commission Monday night.

The plan board wants to hold an informal public hearing before the city commission decides whether to rezone the five-block long strip from single family to terrace.

Seek to Control Drive-Ins Here

Birmingham commissioners learned Monday night that the city is studying a modern ordinance to regulate operations of drive-in restaurants.

While the city at present has only two small restaurants of this type, plans for a large drive-in at 1383 So. Woodward, are under study by the city's building inspection department.

Jack V. Walker, assistant to the city manager, reported to commissioners that the city does not have an ordinance covering the erection or operation of drive-ins but explained that Royal Oak's ordinance was being studied and further information has been sought of the Michigan Municipal League.

News copy submitted early in the afternoon necessarily given preference, as the "early bird" usually gets the space.

NAVAL RESERVE MIDSHIPMEN from leading colleges and universities are being indoctrinated in amphibious warfare training at the Little Cree Naval base in Norfolk, Va. Shown examining a 30 calibre light machine gun used in amphibious operations are Arthur Schauder, Philip Shafter and William R. Nicholas of Birmingham. Nicholas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Nicholas, 911 Madison avenue.

County Proposes Uniform Dog Laws

Birmingham was asked at Monday night's city commission meeting to cooperate with other communities in Oakland county towards establishing uniform dog control laws. The matter was referred to City Manager D. C. Egbert for his recommendations.

In combating rabies as a community health problem, the Oakland county board of health proposes the following:

A combined municipal dog pound for stray and unwanted animals in the interest of both economy and efficiency;

An all-out anti-rabies vaccination period in all communities at the same time;

A COUNTY-WIDE education program through area newspapers, advising owners that rabies vaccination protects their animals as well as people in the community.

Rigid enforcement of all rules and regulations governing the control of rabies and Proper enforcement of local ordinances to prevent people from allowing their pets to roam and penalizing owners who do not purchase dog licenses.
