

Tell Ways to Brighten Homes for Gay Holidays

Idea for ways to brighten homes during the holidays were abundantly displayed when Birmingham garden club members met Monday at the Baldwin Public Library.

Silver bells, driftwood, glittery paper, and textured bowls were among the foils for carefully arranged plant forms. Ideas in balance and line were exchanged and color schemes were suggested.

The workshop and demonstration fortells the show sponsored later this month by the local branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden club. Then, members' works will be judged.

NOVEL IDEAS for door wreaths including the one made by Mrs. Frank Webb, using a coathanger wrapped in chicken wire as a base. Greenie-soaked mulberry leaves form a dark brown background for the shining bells and gray ribbons.

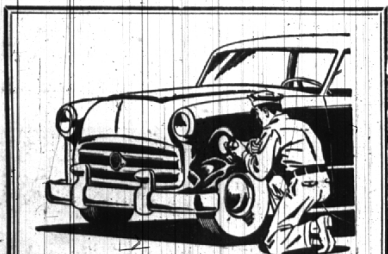

The ring held by Mrs. Hyland above is a nut-studded base for evergreens. Two smaller rings are bound in gray ribbons and tied with tinkling bells for a doorway.

Junior Leaguers Planning Three Yuletide Events

First of the several December activities planned by the Junior League of Birmingham will be their party Saturday afternoon at the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Crippled children in the area will be their guests from 2-4 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Schaffer, chairman, said transportation for the youngsters would be in charge of Mrs. Steele Sellers.

Decorations are in charge of Miss Anne L'Honnmedieu and Mrs. John Guenther; refreshments, Mrs. James McKinnie; gifts, Mrs. Gordon Craig; entertainment, Mrs. Wallace Campbell, and hostesses, Mrs. Dorr Lovett and Mrs. William McConaghy.

THE SECOND event, planned for Dec. 11, will be the annual Christmas dance at the Bloomfield Hills country club.

In charge here are Mrs. David White, chairman; Mrs. Robert Taylor, assistant; Mrs. John Emery, treasurer; Mrs. John Adamson, invitations; Mrs. John K. Martin, decorations, with Mesdames John Bagby, Robert W. King, Colin John, William Bachman, William A. Breach and Don A. Cargill, assisting.

Mrs. Harvey A. Kresge, Jr., has been named to head the committee planning the Dec. 17 Yule party for Senior Workshop members at the Community House.

Working with her will be Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, Mrs. William Crawford and Mrs. Hugh Loud.
