Tara will present a basket of food and fruit to a needy family. Caroline Schaub is working with the YMCA and Community House on this donation.
CTA is planning a variety show for its elderly persons home, and the Pontiac children's home. The group also will give a basket of food to a family in need.
Tara provided a dinner to an adopted family on Thanksgiving and will do the same on Christmas. Included in the basket being prepared under the direction of Barbara Shinnick will be a ham, baked goods, and other holiday treats.

Bloomfield High Choristers Christmas Concert Tomorrow

The Bloomfield Hills High School Mixed Choir has announced the annual Christmas concert to be held tomorrow at the Cranbrook gym, Cranbrook school, on Lone Pine road at 8:30.
The choir will present various Christmas musical arrangements including "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach, "Let It Snow," "Ave Maria," "Twas the Night Before Christmas," "Solos," "The Miller's Tale," "Mary Lou Fuller, and Don Brown."
Mr. C. A. Luchman, director of the music department at Bloomfield Hills High School, will direct the choir and Francis Lewis, a senior at the school, will be the piano accompanist.

Village Students Visit Greenfield

B.I.M. VILLAGE — Third and fourth grade students of our grade are Margie Woodson and Steve Bartholomew. Class president is Sandy Riddell, vice president, Monty Loud.
We are having a Christmas party Dec. 17. We are going to visit the English people. Reported by Kay Mack.

Fifth Grade. The Fifth Grade Adored a tour of Greenfield Village and Museum Monday, Nov. 23. The children want to thank Mrs. Kato, Mrs. Bible, Mrs. Selvidge, and Mrs. Eynon for accompanying them on the trip. The following are some of the children's reports.
"I think that Greenfield Village is all very educational for anybody who visits it. The museum was very interesting with all of the old time bicycles. One of the bicycles was built for ten people. It was funny to see such a long bike. There were silly, funny, and interesting cars to see.
"I liked the court house with the chair in which Abraham Lincoln was shot.
"The weaving was all very interesting. The man who was in charge showed three different types of weavers.
"The houses were all much different from our houses today. They seemed to squeeze in about three girls for one small bedroom.
"Henry Ford's second car was very funny and interesting.
"The Edison work shop was very interesting also. The six letter type writer was very funny. The walls of the shop looked just like walls and walls of chemicals.
"It was all a lot of fun, and interesting to travel back through the years." Written by Judy Bartholomew.

This report following was written by Mimi Newton.
"I liked the Sir John Bennett jewelry store because it was interesting to see the old clocks they used to use, and also the women's brooches, necklaces, bracelets and etc.
"The things that the men wore were also very interesting. I liked the mine in which they put signatures of different types, and people came and pointed out the one they wanted.
"Just outside the door above our heads there is something interesting to both see and hear. It is the two men and two angels that every fifteen minutes play the Witches' chimney."
The new officers of the fifth grade class are: president, Theresa Fisher, vice president, Sam Dible, treasurer, Judy Bartholomew, secretary, Sylvia Feleyn. The good officers: Kent Eskas and Carl Gurley.
On their spelling test 80 per cent of the children received a grade of 100 per cent.

Student Librarians Visitors at BHS

Student library assistants from Wayne memorial high school visit of Birmingham high school last Wednesday for the purpose of seeing the school and particularly the school library.
Upon arriving here the twenty-seven Wayne students ate lunch in the little apartment together with twenty-five of Birmingham high school's library assistants. At 1:15 Cicero members Jim Gillen and Joe Krueger took the Wayne students on a tour of the school.
After the tour they returned to the library where they played games and had a general discussion.
They departed about 3:15 with all of them remarking on how well pleased they were with what they had seen at Birmingham high school.

Barnum Pupils See Noontime Club Show

Barnum's projector club is showing movies during lunch periods in the gymnasium to raise funds for movie equipment.
Admission is five cents. The showings are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
The dramatic club and the Barnum orchestra are working on Barnum's Christmas program which will be Dec. 21.
Barnum's Christmas parties are coming up soon.
Eye and ear tests of Barnum students are being made this week. Students will take time out from language arts classes to take the tests.
A movie of the life of James Fenimore Cooper has been shown in the language arts classes.

Future Engineers Attend Conference

A group of six senior boys recently attended the vocational guidance council of engineering in Detroit.
The program began with an address by Dr. John D. Ryder, Michigan State dean of engineering. The purpose of the council was representing almost every mechanical engineering school in the state. The council split up into smaller groups for discussion of vocations in these various fields.
The purpose of the council was to help boys who were interested in engineering choose a particular job. Representatives attended from metropolitan Detroit. The program was sponsored by the Detroit society of engineering.
