B'ham National Bank Gets New Board Member

At the annual meeting of the incorporation of the Birmingham National Bank, held in the bank's office Tuesday night, the institution's 1953 activities were reviewed and the board of directors' roster was increased from 10 to 11 members.

Other directors re-elected to the board include Merritt C. Adams, George R. Averill, Robert A. Emmert, H. Gardner, Charles E. Lewis, John E. Martin, Ernest W. Seaborn (Board chairman), J. Robert F. Swanson, A. C. Wormald and Ralph A. Wilson.

AT THE CLOSING of business of the bank Dec. 31, 1953, total commercial and savings deposits amounted to $22,285,325.74. This represents an increase for 1953 of $4,055,221.00, equal to the combined gains for the two preceding years.

It was reported that work on the new branch bank, located at South Woodward and Bird, has already been started and efforts will be made to complete it by mid-summer.

"There is no nationwide unanimity as to the outlook for economic activity for 1954, although emphasis is placed on the likelihood of some reduction of historically high levels of the last few years," Gardner stated.

Accept Resignation

Board Postpones Action on Filling Trustee Vacancy

After hearing several applications from residents, Southfield township board members Tuesday night voted to table further consideration of naming a seventh board member until their next meeting.

They are seeking to fill the vacancy created on the board last month by the resignation of James M. Campbell, Campbell who lives in Lathrup, no longer is qualified to sit on the township board since the incorporation of Lathrup in December.

Board members received a second headache when they received a written resignation from a second board member, Bernard A. Chapman. Chapman's letter, they agreed, was in error as to form, and they refused to accept the resignation. In his letter, Chapman gave no reason for his decision to leave the board.

THE BOARD instructed that a letter be sent to Chapman informing him of the correct form and asking him to reconsider his resignation. Geographical representation in the township became an issue as board members reviewed the filing of Campbell's vacancy.

Supervisor William Rosser expressed the board's weight on all boards in the township, and from the southern half of the township, and suggested that a new member be selected from an area north of Eleven Mile road.

Among applications received were the name of Howard Whitescarver, 17550 Edwards, and H. Luther Wagner, 24585 Martha Washington.

The board will consider other persons recommended to them and make the appointment on January 26.

AMONG THE outbuildings of his farm and under his supervision, was a ride cottage that served as a work shop for the Booths. The transfer took place November 24, 1905. Ten acres were bought from Fred and Ellen King, July 30, 1906, and a like amount from Louis H. and Endora Rousseau, Nov. 14, 1907.

Mr. Booth and his son Henry, who later was educated as an architect in 1918, designed and supervised the construction of "The Meeting House," out of which grew both Brookside School and Christ Church Cranbrook; and the son was later the architect of the reconstructed and expanded children's school.

ALBERT KAHN was the architect of Cranbrook House, and the late Marcus H. Burrows designed the Crook Theatre, which houses the Summer School of the Theatre, Christ Church Cranbrook was the work of Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue Associates.

Eiel Saarinen, distinguished Finn, who came to Cranbrook in 1925 and died there in 1950, was the architect of the other four institutions.

Stanley M. Brown, 34, 3933 Kirkland Court, Bloomfield township, also is a Republican candidate for the post.

HE WAS a candidate for the Republican nomination in the 18th district in the 1952 United States Congressional primary. Brown was elected justice of the peace in Southfield township in 1953 while he was living in Franklin.

A graduate of Bowdoin College, Brown served with the U. S. Air Force and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Widely employed by a Detroit industrial firm.

The three Democrats are Marvin W. Kaschinsky, 41, 3260 Kilmer Troy township; John C. Westerdale, 40, 1648 Union Lake road, Commerce; and Fred Wilkinson, 23361 Cora, Farmington.

KUSCHINSKY, a machine repairman, was justice of the peace in Saginaw township in the 18th district in the 1952 United States Congressional primary. He also served as a deputy sheriff, constable and assistant township clerk in Saginaw county.

Westerdale is the owner of a secretarial service firm and has long been a figure in the lakes area civic affairs.

A FORMER president of the Walled Lake High school PTA and an officer of the Save Our Schools committee in Walled Lake Consolidated School district, he also has been chairman of the zoning committee of the Citizens Advisory Group.

The third Democratic aspirant is Fred Wilkinson, who is a graduate of a business administration school in England. He is an accountant and was employed by an industrial firm at Willow Run until his recent semi-retirement.

He was a member of the Farmington school board for 16 years prior to consolidation of the district and served as president of the Farmington Civic Association for five years. He is now the president of a similar organization in Farmington.

IN 1948 he opposed Rep. Howard R. Beardsley for the state legislature. In 1950 he was a candidate for Oakland county clerk.

City commissioners Monday night agreed to pay election board members of the city's $11 per day and $13 per day for board chairman.

Deadline for Birmingham absentee ballot applications will be this Saturday, Jan. 16, at 2 p.m. at the city clerk's office.
