Southeast Area Families Busily Coming and Going

SOUTHEAST OF BIRMINGHAM — Last Sunday the William Yankoes returned to their home on Massoit avenue after spending three weeks at their winter place on Anna Maria Island near Bradenton, Fla. They plan another trip south later in the season.

The Merle Ryders of Tonawanda avenue returned Sunday after a three week vacation spent with Ryder's parents, the Ralph Ryders of Bradenton, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellgrens of Groveland avenue flew to Calumet, Mich. for a two week vacation over Christmas. Mrs. Sellgren and the three boys had never before flown. Winter sports and skating occupied the boys while they visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scussel.

The William Woodwards of Mangrove avenue announce the birth of a daughter, Deborah Lynn, December 21 at New Grace Hospital. The Woodwards have a son, Mark, age three.

S. H. McIntire, director of the FBI for this area will speak tonight (Jan. 14) at 8 p.m. before the Upton School Men's club. A special meeting for the election of officers has been called for Jan. 21. Both meetings are to be held in the school.

Dianne Whitley, nine year old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry B. Whitley, returned from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Saturday. Diane made the trip by air alone and spent two weeks visiting her grandparents, the H. E. Adelspergers, at their winter home there. The Adelspergers spent their summers at their home on Harsen's Island.

A 'Little Scandal' Occupies the Players

Cries of "Welcome home!" greeted Mrs. Robert Tillotson when she walked into the Village Playhouse one evening last week.

Home only an hour, after a trip to Florida, she reported for "duty" announcing that her suitcases were still unpacked. Be that as it may, Players welcomed Mrs. Tillotson wholeheartedly, for she will take over the direction of rehearsals for their Jan. 29-30 presentation of "Little Scandal".

The assistant director of "Little Scandal", Mrs. William E. Kegel, said the three-act comedy-farce would dispel any mid-winter gloom which might have descended upon the cast.

"Little Scandal", she described as the "hilarious story of the problems of a young lady serving as secretary to an obscure UN commission. After a couple of years the young lady returns to her small town home with a new-born infant and creates all manner of situations in her attempts to explain the child.

the east of "The Man Who Came to Dinner", "Harriet" and other Players productions.

While currently continuing her work as an interior decorator and directing the play, Mrs. Tillotson is planning a three-month trip abroad, leaving March 26 on the "New Amsterdam", she will visit Athens and Rome along with Granada, Spain. Following this she will "rest" by stopping off to tour England, Scotland, Ireland and the Netherlands.

Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.

THE FACT that she is returning home to marry a rising young diplomat adds nothing to her peace of mind as small town friends and relatives start to use their imaginations. This is especially confusing since all refuse to regard the truth seriously.

"It all turns out happily," Mrs. Kegel reports, "but not until two crooks from a black market for babies ring and members of the FBI hot on their trails, have complicated events still further."

"All these go along with the howls of the baby, a ten-year old Girl Scout's bugle blowing to confuse the audience and shatter the poise of the heroine, her diplomat boy friend and her devoted, warm-hearted family."

"It will be a fresh play to most area audiences," the assistant director said, "since it has not yet been seen on the New York stage."

IN THEIR 31 years, the Players have produced numerous works of Florence Rerson, co-author of "Little Scandal" with Alice D. G. Miller. Productions have included one-act "solo" attempts plus plays written in collaboration with Colin Clements.

The director, Mrs. Tillotson, is a life member of the Players and has directed such successes as "The Vinegar Tree", and "Two Gentlemen from Soho".

She played the title role in "Susan and God" and has been in
