
CITY AND TOWNSHIP clerks throughout Oakland county converged on Birmingham's Torry school last week to hear the latest in election procedure from Lynn D. Allen, Oakland County clerk, shown standing before the group. The voting machine at Allen's right was of particular interest to many election workers who will be using machine voting for the first time in the August 3 primary election. (Eccentric Photo)

Still Need Blood, US Defense Dept. Tells Red Cross

The U. S. Defense department this week surprised American Red Cross officials in Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties with a request for 25,135 pints of blood this year.

The order, which reversed an earlier announcement, asked the Red Cross to keep blood coming throughout the year that started July 1. An earlier statement told Oakland and other Red Cross chapters that the defense department would need no more blood after Oct. 1.

Dr. E. W. Bauer, blood program chairman, said he had "no idea" why the defense department changed its mind. "They didn't give us their reasons," he said, "but we're sure they're good ones."

Oakland county's share of the five-county quota will be 9,067 pints, Dr. Bauer said. Another 6,000 pints are needed for local civilian hospitals, boosting the county's total quota this year to 9,067 pints.

Dr. Bauer said the defense policy switch will probably help Oakland county make up the $10,000 deficit in this year's blood budget. The deficit came when the defense department said it would cut out of the blood effort Oct. 1, putting no more money into it.

A JULY 9 CEREMONY at Springfield, Ill., marked the presentation of a "stove mat" for the Lincoln Memorial home by Mrs. Rudolph C. Ranke of 1436 Pierce. The hooked rug was designed and made to conform with home furnishings of Lincoln's day, following color tones and materials as closely as possible. Mrs. Ranke was in Denison, Texas, a short time before this to present a rug for the restoration of the Dwight D. Eisenhower home there. Mrs. Ranke also is a native of Denison.

ALTHOUGH THIS SEASON'S Little League baseball season is nearly over, one good resolution could be made by all Birmingham parents to follow when next year's baseball program gets under way. One interested observer called The Eccentric this week to complain about the poor attendance at Little League farm system games. "These boys play just as hard and with just as much spirit as do the older boys and they usually perform before empty bleachers," the caller stated. Spectator participation in competitive sports sustain the youngster's interest in competitive sports and heightens the enjoyment of playing, the baseball fan furthered. Most games, apparently, are witnessed only by the teams and their managers and coaches.

LEON de ST. NICOLAS sailed yesterday on the Queen Mary for his third trip home since he came to the U. S. over 30 years ago. "Home" is Montebourg, a Normandy town devastated in the D-Day landing in France. Leon almost is the "patron saint" of his townsmen because of the money, time and energy he has spent in recent years to aid the French town. Before he and his wife return in about five weeks, they will have spent some time in Switzerland and Italy, too.

ONE BIRMINGHAM MAN who believes he will be happy to see the August 3 primary over is Gordon P. Deneau, whose business is at 114 S. Woodward, but who lives in Detroit. He is being congratulated, criticized, questioned by acquaintances and friends who believe HE is the Deneau who is seeking the GOP nomination as county sheriff. But he isn't the one—it's his uncle, Gordon W. Deneau of Pontiac whose name is on the ballot. But if Gordon W. wins next Tuesday, what more confusion must Gordon P. put up with? And if on Nov. 2 Gordon W. is the winner again, . . . ?

ONE OF BIRMINGHAM'S oldest homes moved out of the way of progress Saturday as house movers transported the George T. Hendrie house, 359 Willets, to a new site on Warren Court. The Willets street property, now owned by Jacobson's, Inc., is expected to be developed for additional off-street parking. Harry Denyes, Birmingham architect, and his family will move into the Hendrie house as soon as redecorating is completed.

OFTEN THOSE WHO MAKE THE LAWS are the first ones caught up by the penalty cause. Such was the case at Monday night's meeting of the Franklin Village trustees. Glen Shoemaker asked that trustees who were tardy for regular meetings be fined when the July 12 meeting got off to a slow start. Monday night all trustees but one were in their chairs at 8 p.m. That one? Glen Shoemaker who sheepishly paid one thin dime as a fine at 8:10 p.m.

IS THE LONE duck which has been seen for the past several evenings flying over the city in a southeasterly direction looking for the wild duck family which has taken up temporary quarters in southeast Birmingham? The bird makes two trips nearly every night, one just as the sun sets, the return just after dark and traced only by the eery plaintive cry which floats down to earth. At first, folks thought the duck may be a bit off balance mentally, for the cry of the flying duck in the evening hours supposedly signals the approach of winter or spring, but with the announcement of the visitors, the idea seems to be that the lone-flyer is searching for his family (See picture at bottom of Page One, Section One.)

SOMEWHAT like the house in the Christmas poem, the Birmingham Community House will have very little activity there during the next four weeks. The House will close on July 30 for the annual staff vacation and general sprucing up of the building, reopening for the 1954-55 program on Sept. 7. Only minor property and equipment repairs are scheduled for this year, along with a moderate amount of interior painting and renovating.

WHEN YOU GO to the primary election polls Aug. 3, you will discover the name of recently deceased Blair Moody, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, on the ballot sheet you mark, or placed next to the lever you pull on a voting machine. Michigan election law does not provide for the deletion of the name of a deceased candidate between the time a candidate may withdraw his name and the date of the election. In fact, most of the ballots for the Aug. 3 primary election are already printed and in the hands of the various municipal clerks. This Wanderer can state this is a fact, since the Averill Press, Inc. (formerly The Eccentric's printing dept.) has already printed ballots for most of the precincts in Oakland, Livingston and Monroe counties.

OAKLAND COUNTY corporation counsel Harry Merritt appeared before the B'ham Rotary club Monday noon to urge passage of the Aug. 3 proposal for a new $4,500,000 county building. "Since that present one was built about 1904, lots of things have happened to this county to keep it in tune with progress—but nothing's happened to the courthouse."
