

PRIMARY ELECTION

State Senator 12th District

(Includes all of Oakland county)

Republican

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, 32, Royal Oak, has been in the state House of Representatives for six years. He is a graduate of Michigan State College and is in the general insurance business. Broomfield favors a much broader research program in mental health than is now conducted by the state and feels that the state's responsibility is to see that the present mental institutions and those to be built are adequately staffed and operated with a maximum of efficiency.

"There are still many serious inequities in our tax system," Broomfield stated. "I am opposed to subsidizing local units of government when it is not needed." He is extremely interested in legislative action in warning the sale of so-called "comic books" wherein sex sadism and crime are portrayed.

FRANK M. GRANGER, 60, Ortonville, is a professor at Wayne University in the college of engineering, a member of the Engineering Society of Detroit and a member of the Institute of Aeronautical Science.

"Legislation to meet present and future problems of mental health must necessarily be geared to the taxpayer's willingness and ability to pay," said Granger. He feels, however, that if the full seriousness of the problem is presented to the taxpayer, present inadequate facilities will be greatly improved. "Michigan's tax system must distribute fairly the funds collected and hence requires frequent re-evaluation. I am not convinced that the present apportionment of funds is up-to-date."

Since many measures coming before the legislature are in the field of engineering and requires the expenditure of many millions of dollars, Granger feels his training and experience as an engineer should be of value.

HOWARD K. KELLEY, 35, Royal Oak, is an attorney, self-employed. He attended the University of Michigan, Detroit Institute of Technology and Detroit College of Law, LL.B.

"We certainly need a constitutional convention, and to remove money to specific channels," Kelley said. "Some local governments do not receive their fair share of tax dollars."

Kelley believes that water should build access roads into urban areas and states that state supply is also a state problem. "Five million people, affected by lack of water, certainly is a big proportion of the state's population."

"I feel the state tax diversion amendment should be replaced," Kuhn stated, "but before this is done, a realistic look should be given schools, cities and townships."

"The schools should have a guaranteed amount of money provided for in the constitution with an escalator clause."

Kuhn is interested in separating the juvenile delinquents from the dependent children and provisions should be made for this as soon as possible.

EDWARD MOREY, 48, Milford, attended the Detroit Institute of Technology, is a graduate chemist from Warner Institute, Owner and manager of a semi-private golf club and director of the Catholic Family Center.

"With the passage of the Seaway bill, Detroit will be bidding for world leadership and Oakland county will be suburban Detroit," Morey stated. "Roads should be planned which will not become obsolete before they leave the drafting boards. Federal and state appropriations should be increased to provide for these."

"This can be declared a distress area for schools because the taxpayer is carrying a full load of the drafting boards. Federal and state facilities are overloaded. Here too, we must apply for federal and state aid."

ANTHONY RENNE, 40, Pontiac, is an attorney and active in veteran affairs and on the safety committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

"The state definitely has a responsibility for mental illness, but I am against expanding state facilities," Renne said. "Because taxpayers need relief from the tax burden. In addition, state spends considerable money for care of mentally ill on alcoholics. I regard alcoholism as a private problem."

"Under present laws, some counties receive more money than they need from sales tax diversion money while other counties and townships do not receive enough for their actual needs. These inequities should definitely be corrected."

Democratic

FRED ELIAS, 40, Hazel Park, is self-employed as restaurant owner. He is a director in the Hazel Park Business Men's Club and member of the Intra-Club council, Hazel Park.

Elias favors correcting present tax inequities and would be willing to sponsor a bill for modification of sales tax diversion amendment.

"He is interested in promoting better care for the aged which would relieve overcrowded hospitals, providing additional space for the sick."

FRED L. HANSCOM, 41, Royal

State House of Representatives

3rd DISTRICT

(Includes city of Birmingham, all of West Bloomfield township and most of Bloomfield and Troy townships)

Republican

WALLACE R. FURBUR, 55,

Rocheater, is a graduate pharmacist and is employed by a Lake Orion drug store. He has served eight years in an administrative position at Henry Ford hospital. "I am particularly interested in strengthening the pharmacy laws of the state," Furbur said, "for the protection of health and welfare of the people."

RICHARD C. VAN DUSEN (incumbent) 28, Birmingham, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota BS and Harvard law school, LL.B.

"I think there is a need for many local governments to take a more realistic attitude toward the assumption of financial responsibility for if they do not, the results are likely to be a stronger, centralized government which will collect all the taxes and distribute them as Van Dusen said.

"Specifically, I think the Conlin proposal for a change in the sales tax distribution system is vital and that a constitutional convention to study the entire system of tax collection and distribution would be desirable."

Democratic

WILLIAM G. LAMBROS, 29, of Rocheater, is the general manager of Lincoln Incorporated and has no opposition.

State House of Representatives

4th DISTRICT

(Includes Southfield township)

Republican

ROBERT A. BURNS, 28, Southfield township, attended the Detroit College of Law.

"The tax structure of the state is in dire need of new codification," Burns said. "I propose that the sales tax be returned to the counties in relation to that paid, thus eliminating the inequalities which now exist between the rural counties to the north and the heavily populated counties to the south which pay the bulk of the tax. Property tax assessments should be made uniform throughout the state."

THEODORE F. HUGHES, 46, Berkley, is an attorney for the city of Berkley and president of the Berkley Exchange club.

"My opinion regarding any need for change in local-state financial relations is not fixed. The problem needs extensive study and experienced with it," Hughes stated. "I am not particularly familiar with problems on a state level."

"It is necessary that Oakland county judicial system be expanded in keeping with population development by providing for a fourth circuit judge."

"Law reservation laws need broadening both from point of view of restriction and zoning ordinances."

CHARLES TRICKEY, 31, Novi, a high school graduate, is employed as a general sales manager. "Two important jobs, director of child guidance clinics and coordinator of mental hospital treatment, have been unfilled for two years. The legislature has appropriated enough money for one position without civil service protection," Trickey said.

"The amount appropriated and the insecurity of the position does not attract psychiatrists. "There should be study of the question of the distribution of sales tax money back to local government. I believe that local governments are not using all they receive and others need more money."

"Trickey would like to see a study made of dock facilities in Michigan ports in preparation of the St. Lawrence Seaway, a 20-mile per hour posted speed limit in school zones with a $1,000 penalty; a periodic check of all motor vehicles by state police.

Democratic

JACK MOSCOWITZ, 27, Oak Park, is a former teacher but now an attorney, with LL.M. degree from Wayne University.

He believes there is a need for adult and child clinics throughout the state, making psychiatric aid available to a larger segment of the population. There should be enabling legislation to create psychiatric clinics in conjunction with Wayne University to serve as a training center and as a clinic which people get aid.

"Sales tax diversion to the county is inequitable," Moscowitz said. "Because of rapid population changes and infrequent census. Out-state counties get more than their share of the money. should be given back to counties on basis of sales tax paid."

"The state should set up uniform method of assessment on property taxes."

DONALD L. SWANSON, 33, Southfield township, is a Detroit

JULY JETSAM*

*JETSAM—1. goods thrown overboard to lighten a ship in distress

For about a week, starting today, we are going to jettison a good deal of our cargo in order to make room for a few things of (we hope) more current interest.

It is curious how far off base one can get in trying to figure out what people will buy—not that they don't buy what they need but that they don't buy it when they need it or they don't see that they need it so they don't buy it. In other words we would prefer to sell it soon after we buy it and when you need it.

So you can easily see what a mess can develop with a situation of this kind. If there were a month starting with "B" we would have headed this column "BEAT-UP BARGAINS". However, don't get the idea that this is damaged jettison. On the contrary, some of it has never been unpacked (in fact, we just found some of it).

Now, we have a few PLASTIC HOTCAPS. They are not for winter wear but will be useful next spring along with the handsome TRELLESSES. Mixed in with the jetsam and comprising an integral part thereof are SPRINKLERS, GRILLS, KNAPSACK SPRAYERS, SOIL CONDITIONERS—things to make your mouth water.

Fancy a bargain on QUADINE to liven up your dog—a Lambert LAWN SWEEPER to sweep (of all things) your lawn—a CAVEY RAKE to rake (of all things) your lawn—a TV BASKET with which to pass to your guests (of all things) bread, without getting between your guests and the screen.

LAWNMOWERS and PLANT STANDES have found their way into this array of such fascinating and useful items as SOLIDIFIED CALCONITE, CLUMSY DOG COMBS (for clumsy dogs), expensive (up until now) THERMAL PICNIC BASKETS, inexpensive (even cheaper now) THERMAL PAILS and so on.

Nothing will be reserved for ladies who wish their husbands to see it before their (the ladies') minds can be made up.

Nothing sold can be brought back—we never want to see it again.

Defects are a concomitant part of the item sold and are considered to be a desirable part of the item.

Haggling over the price will be permitted but, no ill feelings are to be enjoyed by either party.

We will not permit anyone to select an item and then get sore because it doesn't happen to be a piece of JETSAM.

Anyone violating the rules will automatically be considered to be a piece of JETSAM, and can be thrown overboard to lighten the ship.
