The week-end of May 22 was a big one for more than 1000 Boy Scouts of Detroit and Oakland County. This was the weekend that the District I Camporee was held at New Kensington Metropolitan Park. The camp-out lasted from Friday until Sunday afternoon and every moment was filled with activity.

Many relay races were held which included such things as wood chopping, fire building, first aid, and compass reading. On hand to captivate the boys was "Uncle Otto" who is believed to be the oldest living Scout in the United States. He demonstrated the art of fire building and Indian lore.

The boy's took part in a great council fire on Saturday night where Cowboy Cot acted as master of ceremonies. All sleeping was done in tents and the cooking was carried on outdoors by the boys.

A great many Boy Scouts from this area attended the Camporee. Among them were the boys from Troop B 29 of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs. They were Rudolph Bellan, Jimmy Biando, Don Chaffler, Russell Cullen, Ronald Curcuro, Phil De Roster, Fred Giles, Buddy Gullinet, Charles Hartner, Jr., whose father is assistant scout master of the troop, Gilbert Kanat, Lawrence Olrecht, who was senior patrol leader, Ralph Olrecht, James Sempowski, Terry Sempowski and Edward Soma.

This area was also well represented by members of Troop 117. Among the adult leaders for this troop were Mr. Armand Issette; Douglas Witters and John Mitchell. Scouts who attended were Gary Poole, Bob Haefner, Carl Ashcraft, Dale Ashcraft, Jack Mitchell, Ken Mitchell, Doug Witters, Art Issette, Kenneth Maurer, Fred Rhines, Mike Woods, Douglas Booth, Dennis Rautio, Gary Giles, and Hayes Kavanagh.

Troop 117 is already busy projecting plans for the World Jamboree which will be held in 1954 at Niagara on the Lake in Canada. This will be held in August next year and has created tremendous interest since it will be the first time the World Jamboree has been held on the American Continent, and of course boys will attend from all over the world.

Birthdays, anniversaries, guests, births, parties are all new—call the society editor about them.
