WEST BEVERLY—For the next three weeks, Caracas, Venezuela, will be the address of Mrs. Maynard Heukema of Devonshire road. She and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Pelander, of Amherst, Ohio, will visit their brother, Charles R. Anderson, and his family in Caracas. They flew to Miami last Thursday, where they planned a day's stopover before boarding another plane for South America. On the trip down, they planned to lunch at Port au Prince, Haiti, and be in Caracas for dinner.

Its March 17 date gives the Beverly Hills association's luncheon a good claim to the title, "Shamrock luncheon and fashion show." Among the show's models will be Mrs. Harold Van Horn, Mrs. Thomas E. Ellis, Mrs. E. C. Wahl, Mrs. Henry Young, Mrs. D. F. McCarty, Mrs. W. J. Burke and Mrs. Fred Niedermiller, Jr.

Back home after completing a two-week insurance course in Newark, N. J., is Edward Brehm, Jr., of Devonshire road. Brehm was one of 14 in the nation selected by Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, to attend the Annapolis school at the company's home office.

Grace Cummins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cummins, Jr., of Kirtshire road, celebrated her fifth birthday on Feb. 27, by inviting nine friends to her first real birthday party. Coming from Detroit to attend the party were two cousins, Kathleen and Joey Cummins.

Active participation in Girl Scouting has kept Emily Tucker, Sharon Walters, Galla Resnesen and Karen Keene on the go this past month. They were escorted by their fathers to a father-daughter banquet and square dance at the Community House Feb. 18, attended by 150 seventh and eighth grade Scouts and fathers from the Birmingham area. Tomorrow, the four girls will join other seventh and eighth grade Scouts on a weekend "overnight" at Cedar Lake lodge, in the Waterloo recreation area, near Chelsea. The four are members of troop 326, led by Mrs. James Keene and Mrs. Harold Resener.

The vicinity of Ft. Lauderdale is a good place to locate missing persons from West Beverly these days. About two weeks ago, the W. O. Cummings, Mrs. Ned Kalder, Mrs. E. J. Hill and Mrs. Doris Ansteth could be found having a neighborly chat at the Lauderdale dog races. The Cummings returned to their Balmoral road home Feb. 28, after a two-week vacation in the Florida city. Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Ansteth are staying at their home in Ft. Lauderdale until June.

Mrs. Kalder and daughter, Paddy, returned to their home on Kirtshire road March 3, after spending three weeks in Hollywood, Fla. Special treat for Paddy, in addition to daily playtime on the beach, was a "night out" at Jack Valentine's in Ft. Lauderdale, where she occupied a seat in the children's gallery for the ice show.

Another ice show recently claimed the attention of the Dr. Arthur DeRosier family of Bedford road. On Feb. 28, Mrs. DeRosier and daughter Gay attended the afternoon performance of the Hollywood ice review in Detroit, returned home and persuaded Dr. DeRosier and daughter Diane to attend the same show in the evening.

New neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Rowe, who moved to 18202 Beverly road from Detroit last summer. Their son, Paul, is attending the University of Michigan as a first-year medical student, and their daughter, Carol, is a student nurse at Grace hospital. Rowe is plant manager at Reproduction Products company, in Detroit.

Have You Met . . .
Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baugh and daughter, Bonnie Jean, age 9. On Feb. 8 they moved from Franklin to 345 Hawthorne. Baugh is vice president and treasurer of the Process Lithograph company in Detroit. They are members of the Detroit Yacht club, Plum Hollow Golf club, Hammond Organ Society and the Methodist church. Their hobbies are gardening, dancing and traveling.

Household Goods of every description are offered for sale in the Classified Columns of The Birmingham Eccentric.

MRS. CAMERON F. CAMPBELL

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Honeymoon in South

Mary Corin Bentley and Cameron Foster Campbell were married at 4 p.m., Saturday, in St. Dunstan Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook. Escorted to the altar by her brother, Thomas Charlesworth Corbin, the Rev. Robert L. DeWitt read the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eric Curtis-Stanford of Birmingham and the late Thomas C. Corin. Cameron's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Raymond Campbell of Needham, Mass.

Mary wore an azure blue sheer wool suit with a nipped-in jacket piped with blue satin. The skirt was accented with knife pleats. Her small matching hat had a circular veil of blue net and she carried a colonial bouquet of blue violets.

MATRON of honor and her only attendant, Mrs. Matthew John Zak, wore a princess style dress of iridescent mauve silk and a matching shell hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue violets.

Matthew John Zak was best man. Ushers were Malcolm Campbell of Needham, brother of the groom, and John Nickles of Detroit.

The bride's mother attended the wedding and reception, following in the church house, in a green and blue printed taffeta dress with a green bolero jacket. Completing her attire was a small white straw hat and a corsage of sapphire bachelor buttons. Mrs. Campbell wore a navy blue silk jacket dress and tiny white hat. She had a corsage of American beauty rosebuds.

A LUGGAGE tweed coat and brown accessories were worn with her wedding costume for traveling south. The new Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in Detroit.

Out of town guests include Raymond Gabel, the bride's grandfather, her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Gabel, all of Dayton, O.; the bridegroom's parents and his sister, Dorothy, of Needham.
