 THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC CO. COMPANY

Relates Pet Activity of Mattie Baldwin
 To the Editor: I enjoyed the Anniversary issue of 75 years, sent to me by my life-long friend, Mrs. Emma Quorton. I was born in Birmingham and lived there all of my life until I came here to California in 1922. Mrs. Quorton has been sending me the pictures and stories of old time Birmingham and I truly enjoy them so much. I thought you might be interested in one of Mattie Baldwin's pet activities.

SHE WAS such a worker for the Village Improvement Society. She made arrangements with the Grand Trunk railroad to advertise Birmingham on the train through to Detroit and Pontiac. She and my mother made up a large basket of little nosegays (as Mattie called them) and put a little bow of ribbon on them with a little card saying, "Compliments of the Birmingham Village Improvement Society." I don't remember the year as I was just a very young lady, but it was the one sent on the train and I remember having hard work keeping on my feet walking through the train while in motion, but I never fell down.

I WOULD ASK the customers if they would wear one of our nosegays. Many asked how much and what they were for and I would hold the little card for them to read. Lots of people would give me money to help the Society. One old gentleman asked me so many questions and was tickled at my serious answers, he gave me $5 for the Society and $5 for myself. He wanted to know if I was paid for my work and I said, "Oh no, sir, it is for the Society." Then he gave me one of the $5 and I did not get quite a help and needless to say I had the time of my life.

I HADN'T thought about this in years but the pictures from the newspaper Mrs. Quorton sent me brought it to my mind. My mother worked with Mattie Baldwin a lot in her work with the cemetery and other things. In fact, she took care of Mattie in her illness and death.

I am enclosing a clipping from an old Eccentric of 1911 which tells of my winning a piano in a subscription contest. We were given the listing of all subscribers and how far back their indebtedness was.

I spent all my spare time and then some plus all the postage in writing many who knew and asking if they would like to help me win the prize by paying up as each dollar counted so many votes.

THE PIANO (an Oakland) was a beauty—mahogany and maple and had a beautiful tone. It was shipped to me here in California where my mother sold our home in Birmingham and came here to live. It still has its sweet wonderful

Road Committee Named In Lathrup Over Protests

Five residents were appointed to a road committee Monday night by Lathrup Village councilmen despite the council's refusal to let each councilman name one member to the group which will study repair and construction programs for city streets. The group will include Kenneth P. LeFarge, 27630 Rainbow; Nelson Kimberley, 18166 Coral Gables; Harry Brighton, 12901 Coral Gables; Charles T. Suggden, 28222 Colington; and Alfred DiMatteo, 28480 Lathrup. Councilman John G. Campbell asked that each councilman have the opportunity to name one member to the committee instead of electing members from nominations made by the council.

WHEN QUESTIONED on whether he was afraid his nomination would not be named to the board by Mayor William H. Harvie, Campbell stated, "This is the truth, I never have had one of my nominees supported by the council and I don't believe my ideas on naming the road committee are any more irregular than some of the proposals this council has undertaken."

Pierce School Holds Spelling Contest

Winners have been named in the class spell-down Friday at Pierce school. Sixth grade winner is Joan Pietsch who topped her class by correctly spelling "separately." Delmar Gowing won out over his fifth grade opponent by spelling "capital." Ten top spellers from each grade will clash Friday to decide the championship of the school.

OTHER SCHOOLS in the Birmingham district are also holding spell-downs to determine school championship. A district champion will be crowned in a "free" with all schools participating. Date for the final spell-down has not been set as yet.
