To Present Show
At Art Museum

Leading artists and craftsmen from various parts of the nation will be represented in the Alumni Exhibition of Textiles, Ceramics and Metalwork on view at the Museum of Cranbrook Academy of Art, from March 5 through 28, curator Eva I. Gatling has announced.

One of the more interesting aspects of the show is an opportunity to view a cross-section of the work done by several artists who in recent years have participated in developing the crafts industries in Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

There is metalwork by Shirley Dinowitzer Lasky Zimmerman, formerly of the government-sponsored Puerto Rican Development Corp., and textiles by Geraldine Funk de Alvarez, who was for several years head of the weaving department of the same organization.

LYSBETH WALLACE and Mary Kring Risley, both of whom participated in the Philippine cottage industries program sponsored by the United States and the United Nations, will show weaving and ceramics, respectively. Miss Wallace trained Filipino weavers in the use of new equipment and organized weaving demonstrations and training centers. Mrs. Risley performed similar duties in the field of ceramics.

Among the weaving is also work by Joan Patterson, professor of clothing and textile design at Oregon State College, who has recently given impetus to the flax industry of her home state through extensive research into the new uses for flax in textiles.

From among the 126 entries the four purchases for the Museum's permanent collection were a rayon and lurex drapery by Robert D. Sailors; a stoneware bowl by J. T. Abernathy; a stoneware bowl by Tom Sheffield; and a sterling bowl by R. Wendell Tomberlin.

Bob Stephenson's team fell out of first place when Bill Stresen-Reuter's cagers defeated them 19-13 in Monday's game.

Playing with their captain for the first time since the early part of the season, Stresen-Reuter's team broke the deadlock between Mahlitzer and Stephenson for first place.

Jim Sechrist, with seven points and Bill Stresen-Reuter, with six points, were the high scorers for the winners.

Bob Stephenson was high scorer for his team with ten points.

STRESSEN-REUTER'S team lost Friday to Edie Green's team, 18-16. Tom Lasko was high scorer for Stresen-Reuter and Green was high scorer for his team. Green and Lasko each had eight points for the game.

Jeff Boucher's team narrowly defeated Fred Schwarz's team, 20-24 in the last seventh grade intramural basketball game this season. Boucher scored fifteen points before he fouled out with 50 seconds left in the game.

Homeroom basketball ended Tuesday. The eighth grade will now play two games full court on playing nights. One will be played during the time formerly used by homeroom basketball and the second will be played at the regular time.

Detroit Town Hall
To Hear Speech
By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson, America's most controversial columnist, will be the speaker at Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, March 10, at 11 o'clock. In his lecture in Fisher Theatre, the famous newsmen will cover the latest developments behind the scenes in the Capital and discuss problems of world-wide interest.

Pearson has gained an outstanding reputation for his fearless crusading against political, social and legislative privilege. His crusading has made him both hated and feared.

The writer initiated a new era in journalism when he inaugurated the "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column. During World War I, he went to the Balkans for the Red Cross, heading Quaker relief.

DOUGLAS L. BUSS, 6563 Worthington Road, Wing Lake, was elected to the office of president and treasurer of the Harry W. Dietert Co., Detroit, Feb. 18, 1954. He was previously executive vice-president and treasurer. Harry W. Dietert was elected chairman of the board of directors. The company is internationally known for its complete line of laboratory testing and automatic equipment for the foundry industry.

News copy submitted early is necessarily given preference, so the "early bird" usually gets the space.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—
PHAM CITY MANAGER D. C. EGBERT: "When the city stages its annual clean-up event May 1-10, our regular rubbish pickup schedules will apply. It will depend on how much refuse is at the curbs whether the city may have to use some of its DFW trucks to help out the private contractor. We'll try it that way this year and see what happens."
