MRS. JOHN C. MALSTROM

Phyllis Bartholomew Wears Veil from Rome

An imported silk catour satin gown was worn by Phyllis Jane Bartholomew for her marriage to John Calvert Malstrom. The bodice of the gown was accented by a portrait neckline and a nipped-in waist. Tiny inverted pleats centered the back of the full skirt falling into a court train.

The bridal veil of Point de Marguerite lace, brought from Rome by the bride, was attached to a Mary Queen of Scots headdress and fell in soft folds over the valley. She carried a white lace fan adorned with lilies of the valley and a white orchid.

The candlelight ceremony was performed at 8 p.m., Feb. 27, in Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. Perry Williams read the double-ring rites before 250 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bartholomew, 2224 Yarmouth road, John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malstrom of Detroit.

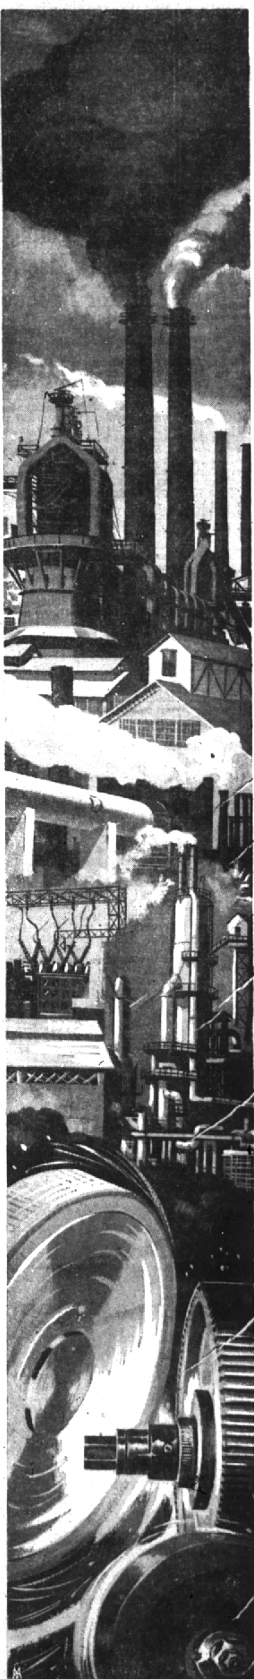

MATRON of honor was Mrs. Stanley E. Reinhart, Jr., of West Point, N. Y., and maid of honor, Nancy E. Trumbull of Bloomfield Hills. They wore gowns of daffodil yellow silk organza styled with her basque waists and full skirts. Their headdresses consisted of garlands of white daisies and ivy and they carried yellow silk illusion fans which were covered with daisies and trailing ivy.

Acting as bridesmaids were Elizabeth Boyne of Birmingham, Clara Gordon and Suzanne Ameyson, both of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Leland E. Bartholomew of Detroit. They wore gowns identical to the honor attendants.

ROBERT MAUND of Santa Monica, Calif., was John's best man. Seating the guests were Douglas Knight of Farmington, Leland E. Bartholomew, Paul Robinson, Richard McGeorge, Jr., and David Turner, all of Detroit.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bartholomew chose a floor length gown of champagne taffeta and a corsage of baby brown orchids. The bridegroom's mother had a purple orchid pinned to her mauve rose taffeta floor length gown.

A dinner party for the wedding guests was held at Oakland Hills Country club. Phyllis donned a light grey suit with navy accessories and a white orchid for traveling. Honeymooning in Key Biscayne, Fla., the new Mr. and Mrs. Malstrom will make their home in Detroit after the middle of March.

and . . . where do

FINE WATCHES STERLING SILVER and DIAMONDS

fit . . . in the economic picture of the United States

Representing the finer elements of living as opposed to the absolutely necessary, they perform a three-fold service.

First, they contribute a pleasure that, like fine food and music, is immeasurable. Yes, they can be done without. But, the very fact that they are not is evidence that they fill an important place in our lives.

Second, their purchase creates income and, makes possible the production and purchase of additional necessities and luxuries. In adding grace to living they back the faith of those who believe in continued prosperity by contributing to that prosperity.

Third, they are a wise investment. They give lifelong service, and particularly in the case of sterling and diamonds, they have an abiding intrinsic value.

Sterling, diamonds and fine watches are a good barometer of the economic weather. From their continued demand indications are that all is well.
