

Exhibit Home Is Opened on Shirley Farms

At Shirley Farms, a 40-home colony of custom styled homes on Wing Lake road, the Gordon Williamson Co. is presenting a new exhibit home designed by Henckes & Lorenz.

Several sales already have been made at Shirley Farms. Gordon Williamson, company president, states, "The Shirley Farms homes are constructed to meet the demands of sturdiness and functional, graceful living. Some of the features incorporated into the homes are the results of a survey conducted among present home owners and prospective home owners."

The homes provide large bedrooms, 2 1/2 ceramic tile baths, stall showers, large living rooms, marble-faced fireplaces, a master bedroom suite with its own bathroom and shower done in ceramic tile, center entrance hall, large roofed terrace, estate-sized plots, full basement, copper plumbing and 2-car garages.

Engineering Firm Builds New Plant

The Sahlin Engineering company, 267 Fernside, will occupy its new building, now under construction at 678 E. Maple, Troy township, during the last week in June, according to Richard T. Sahlin, president.

The new building will have 10,000 square feet of floor space for general offices, an engineering department, and an experimental and research department. Sahlin said the move is being made because of expansion of the company's business.

At present, the firm has factory operations in Flint, Detroit, and Hazel Park.

Specializing in automatic equipment for automotive and allied industries, the company's products are distributed throughout most of the world, Sahlin said. Its main product is the Iron Hand which is used to feed materials to industrial punch presses.

Sahlin engineering was founded in Detroit in 1945, moved to 467 S. Woodward, Birmingham, in 1949, and has been at the Fernside street address for the past three years.

Other officers are Henry Sahlin, vice-president; Francis Sahlin, vice-president in charge of sales, and Thomas M. Ryan, executive assistant.
