WEST BEVERLY—At last week's Beverly Hills association social meeting in the Devonshire road home of Mrs. Henry Welch, tickets were distributed for the May 11 association dinner.

Any area residents who are unable to attend the dinner, are cordially invited by the affair's chairman, to attend the business meeting and program directly following it.

The Bradley Stephansons, with daughter, Mary Bradley, are back in their Riverside drive home, after spending six weeks in Ft. Lauderdale. En route south, they stopped off in Mt. Washington, Cincinnati, to help celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Stephanson's mother, Mrs. L. B. Osterfeld.

Back from a three-week vacation in Delray Beach, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel, and daughters, Lynne and Joanne, of Beaconsfield road.

Mrs. H. J. Guenther, of Hillcrest road, will be hostess for the next West Beverly sewing club meeting May 11 at 10 a.m. In addition to its sewing and knitting activities, the group is now gathering to add a kind new item of clothing and household linens, for its contribution to the Birmingham Needlework Guild's fall gathering.

Back from Easter vacation in Vero Beach, Fla., are the Stanley Andersens, and children, Robin and Tommy, of Devonshire road.

Last week, Mrs. Andersen was hostess at a luncheon honoring Mrs. C. D. Olmstead, of Beverly road, who will move to Royal Oak in May.

At an Easter egg hunt in Pompano Beach, Fla., Mary Doreugh came up with first prize for finding the golden egg. She is back in her Beaconsfield road home now, after spending two weeks in Pompano with her parents, the J. T. Doreugh, and her brother, Jens, who flew down from Purdue to join the family during his spring vacation.

Visits to see Silver Springs, Fla., and Atlanta's cycloramic painting of the battle of Atlanta, highlighted their drive down and back.

The Metropolitan opera company's performance of "Il Trovatore" drew the Norris Hosts to Cleveland the weekend of April 24. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Evans, of Huntington Woods, they also visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hendricks in Shaker Heights, and the Howard Begins, in Grafton, Ohio.

Four children and a dog were on the Richard Maurer's passenger list when they took their annual trip to Washington during Easter vacation. After visiting their families in Washington, and former neighbors in Richmond, Va., they headed back to their Devonshire road home with two additional passengers—a pair of parakeets.

The R. C. Artner, of Hillcrest road, returned April 26 from a 10-day theatergoing and sightseeing trip to New York city. With Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reiner, of Detroit, they attended four Broadway shows, visited the UN, and took a boat trip around Manhattan island. With the weather smiling all the way, they also drove through the Berkshires to Wiggins tavern, in Northampton, Mass., and visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ash, in their Helderberg mountain home, near Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell, of 18488 Beverly road, have been West Beverly residents since last fall. With their son, David, 10, they moved here from Detroit. Campbell is a salesman, with Progressive Welders Sales company, of Detroit.

New residents at 18204 Kinross road are Mrs. Arthur Wragby and her son, Roy Wragby, who moved a month ago from Henley drive, in Birmingham. He is associated with General Motors corporation, in Pontiac.
