NEARLY FIVE thousand people watched the presentations of the Birmingham high school variety show, "Country Fair," at the school Nov. 18 and 19. One of the most enjoyed of the acts was the "Fancy Pants" routine.

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

SOMEONE, SIGNING HIMSELF (?) "A Long-Time Reader" has chided this Wanderer for an apparent declaration of disbelief so far as Flying Saucers are concerned. We frankly admit ignorance on the subject. To the contrary, Long-Time Reader, we do look up, but what we see are stars and, in its seasons, the moon. Now and then the blinking wing lights of a plane cross our vision—but no saucers. Tell us all how to recognize one of these conveyances from outer space—we shall be delighted to know for we are truly and sincerely curious about them. In the meantime, the reader has given the address of an area Flying Saucer club as 6432 Cass Ave., Detroit. This information will answer an appeal made a short time ago to Charles Mortensen, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce office, for information about such a club. Mortensen, like this Wanderer, was unaware of the club and, presumably, had never seen one of the mysterious craft, either.

A businessman just back from the Northwoods looked at his plate in a Birmingham restaurant and said "I ate so much while I was in the hunting camp I still don't feel hungry. We had a pressure cooker and all the recipes that came with it were for eight people. There were only four of us."

THAT HOMEY TOUCH for servicemen at the Detroit USO Thanksgiving Day will have quite a Birmingham air about it. Three huge turkeys have been donated by Mrs. M. G. Hillman, Mrs. John Walrath and Mrs. Norman Porter to assure a good supply of turkey sandwiches. In addition to these local women (all members of the MOMS club), Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mintling will take over at the serving table for their third successive year.

Store Larceny

William F. Miller of the Miller Lawn Equipment store, 801 S. Woodward, reported that between $175 and $200 was taken from his business sometime between 12:45 and 2 p.m. Monday, according to police.
