Luncheons Honoring Guests in B'ham

Luncheons, dinners and parties are honoring guests in Birmingham these days.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. William M. Weeks have been entertained at the Wallace Dodds home on Willow lane for the past week. They returned Saturday to Staff Sgt. Weeks' post at Cherry Pointe, N. C.

The Dodds had arrived only recently from a three weeks trip through New England.

Mrs. Truman Strang returned Sunday to her Kenosha, Wis. home after being the guest of the Jasper Reids on North Glencairy, Bloomfield township.

A FORMER BIRMINGHAM resident, she attended several dinners and luncheons in her honor, including a luncheon on last Friday at the home of Mrs. George D. Miller on Fairfax.

BARBARA ANN INCH

Engaged to Lieutenant

Barbara Ann Inch's engagement to Lt. Clayton B. Armitage has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton G. Inch of Detroit. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton P. Armitage of North Miller Way, Bloomfield Township.

The bride-to-be attends Michigan State college where she is a member of Psi Beta Phi. Lt. Armitage attended Staunton Military Academy, Albion college and received his degree from Michigan State college where he was affiliated with Theta Chi. He is now stationed with the military police at White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico.

The couple plan to be married in June.

Their two children, Winn, 7 and Bert, 4, have had their grandmother, Mrs. M. O. Collison, with them at their Lake Park home while the parents travelled.

They've written along that line to Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Robert Woodruff on Paritan, with details of the friendliness of proprietors where they spend some two hours at a time in a single shop. Some shops are sidewalk ones in the little villages between Tokyo and Yokota where Miller is a first lieutenant in the Judge Advocate division of the Air Force.

HOMEWARD BOUND are the George A. Lyons, Jr., who sailed aboard the Queen Mary from Europe yesterday. They spent the past week at Paris seeing the auto show there after flying down from Copenhagen. Other spots they have toured are Glenageary, Scotland, and London, England.

WORD FROM THE JUNIOR George D. Millers who are in Yokota, Japan, is that the markets in and around Tokyo are fascinating. Mrs. Miller, Sr., says the young people have been taking
