

THE THIRD ANNUAL OUTDOOR Art Festival at Kirk-in-the-Hills ended last weekend after four days of exhibiting, which drew an estimated 5,000 visitors. Among the classifications were oil and water paintings, graphic art, sculpture, and for the first time—its such as ceramics, pottery and glass. Above, Mrs. Roger M. Kyes and Mrs. T. J. LaFontaine stand before one of the lakeshore exhibits. Opposite, Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Jensen and Mrs. Harold C. DeWendt examine some of the ceramic and fabric work displayed.

West Beverly

VIRGINIA DETWILER MI 4-3820

Fresh from two months of travel in Europe and the Holy Land, Dr. and Mrs. Wesley G. Nicholson visited the North-chester road home of his sister and brother-in-law, the Dalton H. Lambs, during the last week in August. Dr. and Mrs. Nicholson were en route back to their home and his Congressional ministry in Eugene, Ore.

One day was all that separated the John Powers family, of River-side drive from the East, coast's recent hurricane. One day after they drove from Swampscott, Mass., to New York, they received word of the big wind that blew down the steeple of Boston's Old North church.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers, and their son, John Anthony, stayed for a month at New Ocean House, in Swampscott, and for a week at the St. Moritz hotel, in New York.

The Beverly Hills book group, AAUW, will hold its first meeting of the season Monday, Sept. 27, in the Devonshire road home of the group's chairman, Mrs. Herbert Green. Area AAUW members who are interested in joining the group are urged to contact Mrs. Green.

EASTERN TRIP

Close connections were made by Jean Seitz, of Northchester road, when she recently accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Seitz, on a two-week eastern automobile trip.

The trip officially began at Detroit's Greyhound station, when Mr. and Mrs. Seitz met the bus returning Jean from Camp Crystal Lake, where she spent the summer as riding counselor.

They stayed for a week in Boston, where Seitz was a delegate to the international photo engraving convention, and spent the balance of their time sightseeing in New York and Washington, D. C. Yesterday, Jean returned to Ann Arbor, where she starts her sophomore year at the University of Michigan.

Back in their Bedford road home, the H. F. Menards are reflecting on summertime pleasures at their Point Nipigon cottage, where they had a get-together with both daughters, and their families.

On hand for a few weeks were the Jack Meads, and daughter, Jane Ellen, of Birmingham, and the Frank Egans and daughter, Margaret Ann, former residents of Birmingham, now living in New York city.

The Alec Lindseys, of Kirkshire road, recently left two month-old son Donnie with her sister, Mrs. F. O. Richardson, in Park Ridge, Ill., and took a two-week trip, with son, David, 3, through Wisconsin and Michigan's upper peninsula. They returned home Labor Day weekend.

From Decoration day until Labor day, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle, of Kirkshire road, were officially "at home" in their cabin at Port Elgin, Ont.

Visitors at the cabin during the summer included their daughter and son-in-law, the Donald G. Gens, with children Barbara Ann and Greg, of Birmingham; their son and daughter-in-law, the William F. Elmers, of Royal Oak, with children, Matilda, Bill and David, and the A. V. McAlleys, of Del Rio, Tex.

Welcoming the Lyles for a month are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Paulin, of Sonoma, Calif.
