Designer's Clothes For Cool Living

What happens to women's summer fashions when air conditioning transforms hot sticky rooms in the home to a cool, refreshing oasis?

Tina Leser answers the question with a complete line of her inimitable style, designed especially for the fortunate women who will inhabit Carrier Weathermaker Air Conditioned Homes. Plans are now being made to stage this fashion show at Hudson's Northland or a spot equally convenient to Westchester.

Creating this particular line presented a very real challenge to Tina Leser. The clothes had to be comfortable when worn in the cool, dehumidified air inside the house—yet also had to be adaptable to soaring temperatures when the wearer stepped outside into blistering heat.

This necessitated considerable sleight of hand with fabrics, styling and other factors... all of which Tina Leser has handled effectively. Dates for her fashion shows will be announced shortly.
