George Birds of Golfview Home from Florida, Nassau

The George W. Birds of Golfview drive have just returned home from Nassau and Florida. During Mrs. Bird's Florida stay the visiting her mother in Palm Beach for six weeks. Bird then joined her in Nassau with their neighbor, the Marland Campbells. TV star Bob Hope was vacationing there at the same time.

Home from Arizona are the Frank Bays of West Maple road. They stayed at the Arizona Baltimore in Phoenix and did a great deal of swimming and riding through the mountains during their time there. They also met the famed architect, Frank Lloyd Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weeks of North Miller way hosted a dinner party at Red Run Country club on April 10 for the club's annual sea food dinner. Their guests were the B. J. Boardners, the John Piecus and the Robert Dussaus.

FLYING WEEKEND
Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Scott of Lane Lake road flew their plane to Baltimore, Md. Easter weekend to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hopkins, and their grandchildren, Phillip and Scott Washington. They were accompanied part way by A. L. Genuag, who left them at Rockville, Md., where he joined Mrs. Genuag.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rockwell of East Miller way spent Easter weekend in Ann Arbor visiting Mrs. Rockwell's parents, the Thomas Piersols. Over the weekend the Rockwells were godparents at the christening of their niece from Buffalo, N.Y.

The Joseph Flaherty's of Pond Valley drive welcomed their daughters, Kathy and Pat, home from school for the Spring holidays. Pat is a student at Manhattanville and Kathy at Marymount.

Pat Wells of White Plains, N. Y., the youngest, will be entertained at a number of parties while she is here.

On Wednesday, Pat Flaherty hosted a luncheon honoring her at the Detroit Athletic club and today Kathy will have another luncheon at the club to introduce the eastern guest to friends in Birmingham.

Susan Swartz Sees Use for Folk Dance By Rheumatic Youth
A resident of Birmingham, now studying at Antioch college at Yellow Springs, O., has found that folk dancing can be easily done and immensely enjoyed by children, even by children recovering from rheumatic fever.

Susan Swartz, a fourth-year student, recently completed three months as a general counselor and dance director at Herrick House, a children's sanatorium in Bartlett, Ill., as part of her program under Antioch's study-plus-work plan.

Miss Swartz says, "When I asked the children why they enjoyed folk dancing, the first answer was usually the vague one: 'It's fun.' Another answer 'You can show off.' This answer came out with a giggle, but it was true."
