Season Starts With Cocktail Party

By FRAN MAIER

The unusual, beautiful and delicious were skillfully blended to provide greater pleasure for members and guests of the Birmingham country club April 13.

Each quality had its place in every feature of the cocktail hour for women members.

Unusual was the thirty-foot long damask tablecloth which provided a background for the delicious hot hors d'oeuvres, some served from their own fancy chafin dishes. Words cannot describe these tidbits but the looks of delight on members' faces as they bit through crisp crusts surrounding shrimp, crab legs, lobster, stuffed mushroom and the like, spoke eloquently.

More vocal was the manner in which the lovely floral pieces were greeted.

Massed blooms in matching shades of pink formed three large spots of color on the main table with a similar bouquet on a table of dainty pastries.

The florist had combined the delicate shades of tulips, hyacinths, stocks, snapdragons, roses and carnations. All were accented by the clever use of greens, including fern fronds.

"This is the nicest party we ever had!" was the comment of every member present. Guests stared, open-mouthed.
