Mr. Pennypacker Airing Troubles At Will-O-Way

Time turns back at Will-O-Way this week and next, Aug. 16-23, to bring the trials and tribulations of an 1890 businessman to life again.

The remarkable Mr. Pennypacker is the story of a gentleman bound up in the operations of two factories and two families.

His hometown park factory in Wilmington, Del., where he has a family of eight. His second factory is in Philadelphia, the city his family of nine calls "home."

The play became a Broadway attraction early in 1954, starring Burgess Meredith and Martha Scott.

Will-O-Way's cast will be headed by Robert Dale, Detroit TV star, in the title role. Margaret Crosby will be "Mrs. Pennypacker Number One."

THE CAST also includes Carolyn Burroughs, Lillian Backs, James Wright, Hal Rollins, Ken Bolton and Joe VanDonk.

The children in the Pennypacker trials will include most of illustrator Bill Merrill's clan, Billy, Marce and Starr, along with cousins John and Merrill Sadowski.

Among the organizations sponsoring Pennypacker performance is the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Zonta club, selling tickets for the Aug. 23 performance.
