MRS. W. MURRAY SMITH

St. Hugo in the Hills Scene of Nuptials

Joan Katherine Smith became the bride of W. Murray Smith in morning services Saturday at St. Hugo in the Hills. The Rev. Francis Stack performed the 11 a.m. ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Thorn Smith, Jr., of St. Louis, Mo. Joan is the daughter of Mrs. Millard Thorn Smith of 1084 Abbey road, Birmingham, and the late Mr. Smith. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Glaeser of Detroit.

Out of town wedding guests were Lt. and Mrs. Darriel Alsobrooks, Columbus, Ga.; Lt. and Mrs. Frederick Harris, Havelock, N. C.; and Mr. and Mrs. Thorn Smith, Jr., and daughter, St. Louis, Mo.

THE BRIDAL GOWN was a Cell Chapman original, latherina length, fashioned with an embroidered organza bodice and accented, pleated, tiered skirt, accented by a pink satin bustle boy.

The bridal bouquet was a colonial cascade of white stock, fuchsia and pink sweetheart roses.

Sally Thorn Smith, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Katherine M. Smith, another sister. They carried cascades of fuchsia and glandolias.

THE BEST MAN was the groom's brother, Joseph David Smith. Ushers were Frederick C. Glaeser, Gerald Mrosak and Everett Labadie, Jr.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony. For traveling, the bride chose a white embroidered linen sheath dress with a white linen duster and white accessories.

On their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in

Keep Away from Travelling Fans

A man in Jasper, Ind., lost his big toe to an electric fan, the other night. It whirled its way across the bedroom and attacked him while he slept with his foot dangling off the bed.

This sort of trouble may be avoided in several ways:

- 1) Wear shoes to bed;
- 2) Tie the fan down securely;
- 3) Move to the far north;
- 4) Do just don't turn the fan on.

The latter may seem a little silly, but at least you won't chance having to keep explaining to curious strangers, "Well, my fan snaked across the floor and..."

Kids Should Play It Safe on School Bus

Boys' play on the school bus means distraction to the driver and possible injury to the children. The Institute For Safer Living points out that parents should instill in their child's mind consideration for schedulmates. Tripping, playing tag, pushing or rushing while waiting for, or while inside the bus, could mean serious injury. Neighborhood mothers should take turns supervising school children at the bus stop and insure safe boarding of the bus.
