

Former Residents Tell Daughter's Troth in Penna.

Former residents of Puritan, Birmingham, but now living in Haverford, Pa., the Thomas Stinson Horrocks, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean Pearson Horrocks, to Worthington Scranton Mayer, son of Mrs. Edward Mayer and the late Mr. Maynard of Dutton, Pa. Miss Horrocks attended the Agnes Irwin school and Kingswood school, Cambridge, and is at present a senior at Smith College. Her fiancé is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Yale university, 1955, where he was a member of Zeta Psi. He will begin active duty as a second lieutenant in the U. S. air forces in December.

MAYER IS the grandson of Mrs. Worthington Scranton and the late Mr. Scranton of Scranton, Pa., and Hope Sound, Fla. No date has been set for the wedding.

Former Resident Wedded in West

Jayne Ann Bartholomew, daughter of the late John R. Bartholomew, formerly of Baldwin avenue, now of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, was married to Philip A. Orleans in San Rafael, Calif., on Nov. 23. The couple will reside in San Rafael.

Commercial, Traditional Yule Portrayed

Contrasting cynicism about commercialized Christmas traditions and the enjoyment of holiday songs will be a skit written by Mrs. Walter Patton for the American Association of University Women's next meeting.

The Dec. 14 luncheon meeting at the Community House will see the program in the 60-minute skit and Yule songs by the Madrigal singers. "All Ways Christmas" is the name of the skit, in which an AAUW poetry group debates the growing commercialization of the Christmas season and parties with several humorous poems. Then a more serious poem brings the group back to the holiday's purpose. Mrs. Jack Berno points out the merits of the simpler songs of the Yuletide.

Librarians Exchange Vows Thursday in Highland Park

F. Richard Burgess of Highland Park claimed Kathleen E. Picket as his bride at a ten-minute ceremony last Thursday in St. Benedict's church, Highland Park.

Kathleen is boss' and girls' librarian at the Baldwin Public Library in Birmingham and her husband is a librarian employed at the McGehee Public Library in Highland Park. The bride wore a white tulle gown of chantilly lace over satin styled with a scoop neckline, fitted bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a half crown and she carried a white orchid on a gray ribbon.

Christmas Luncheon Has Local Models

The annual Christmas luncheon of the Inleton Osteopathic women's club will be held at the Birmingham country club, Tuesday, at 12:30 p.m. Program will be highlighted with a fashion show of Ruth Allen dresses, donated by the club and modeled by the children of DOWC members. Among the models will be Kim Horton, Maria Thompson and Kay Walker of Birmingham. Early reservations have been made by Mrs. D. F. Christian, Mrs. H. E. Jones and Mrs. Joseph H. Wyatt of Birmingham.
