

MRS. EVERETT B. HOUSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Honeymoon in Nevada

Magnolia white gown of one and Italian silk satin, fashioned the wedding gown chosen by Patricia Joan Smith for her marriage Saturday to Everett Brexington Houston. Vows were exchanged at six o'clock in Christ The King Catholic church, Kilgore, Texas, with the Rev. Nicholas Driscoll officiating.

The primary silhouette of gown de-vised by satin standing and sleeves had a squared neckline outlined by a band of the silk satin that was delicately embroidered with crystal and pearl in floral motif. The satin extended low into the back where small buttons extended to below the waistline. The sleeves were long and came into deep points over the hand. The multi-colored skirt was accented in the back by two pocket panels of silk satin beautifully embroidered with the pearl and crystal embroidery and cascaded from the tiny waist to the end of the circular court train.

Herloom Brussels ruffled lace edged the plateau trim that was presented by satin standing and sleeves of the magnolia white. French lace was delicately embroidered to help finger-trip length.

PATRICIA is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fae R. Smith of Kilgore, Texas. Her wedding her mother wore a pearl and white gown and a white corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Houston, of Oakland, Highland township, are the parents of the groom. His mother chose a multi-colored silk tulle dress with a bronze jewel corsage and a white corsage.

MRS. Ernest W. Bartlett, Jr., daughter of honor, Jean McGregg, Joan Johnson, Ovada Home and Mrs. Philip E. Happe, all of Texas, were bridesmaids. Gowns of ice blue turquoise tulle and brief sleeves. The bridesmaids had pointed collars at the low hiplines from which fell gathered skirts of ballet length. Velvet flowerettes in ice blue coloring formed a crown and were worn with circles of black. Short white gloves and satin slippers of the ice turquoise completed their costumes.

Best man was Henry A. Houston III, of Detroit, brother of the groom. Seating the guests were Emory T. Corbett, Jr., Jack McCraw, Kenneth Deffenbaugh and Jack Burns.

To start her wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, the new Mrs. Houston donned a black suit with satin trim and matching satin hat. Their residence will be established in Longview, Texas, when they return.
